Grain Rates May Be Hit

Crow's Nest Pass Scale Escapes Hike; New Boosts if Wages Rise

OTTAWA, July 15 (CP)—The railways today applied for a new series of freight rate increases that would amount to more than $80,000,000 a year.

Mayor Angry At Railways' Rate Demand

'Halt Must Be Called ... or We'll Face Ruin'

Mayor Claude L. Harrison was angered today when told Canadian railways have applied for further freight rate increases totaling 16 per cent. "What I can't understand is why such services must increase their rates when the cost of living is coming down. It simply doesn't make sense," said the mayor.

He said it is possible he will ask for a full discussion in council on the matter.

"A halt must be called to this sort of thing or we'll all be ruined," said Mayor Harrison.

H. A. Wallace, president of Yarrow's Ltd., deplored the requested increases and termed them "another blow" to British Columbia's shipbuilding industry.

"We are already handicapped in competing with eastern shipbuilders because our wages are higher. Further freight rate increases at this time will put us at a further disadvantage," he said.

(See page 5 for comment of Fred Hawes, chairman of Chamber of Commerce freight rate committee.)

E. W. Arnott, B.C. Electric vice-president in charge of Vancouver Island operations, said he would have to study the matter before making comment.

He pointed out, however, that cost of services must go up if wages are increased.

Provincial government officials were unavailable for comment, but it is expected there will be active government opposition to the rate boosts.

UP TO WHITE HOUSE

Latest Steel Strike Peace Try Fails

PITTSBURGH, July 15 (AP)—New steel strike peace talks ended today with industry and the United Steelworkers (C.I.O.) in disagreement but standing by for further word from the White House.

After a two-hour bargaining session, president Philip Murray of the striking union and vice-president Joseph M. Larkin of Bethlehem Steel issued a joint statement saying they are still in disagreement.

Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman arranged the talks. He acted after a round of week-end discussions failed to settle the dispute, now in its 44th day.

Steelman, telephoned union and industry representatives Monday and insisted on a new try for peace in the strike that has idled about 1,500,000 United States breadwinners.

Senate May Be Created

WELLINGTON, N.Z., July 15 (Reuters).—A proposal to create a New Zealand senate was made today by a constitutional reform committee in the House of Representatives.

It would replace the former Legislative Council, which voted itself out of existence in 1950. Prime Minister Sidney Holland said it has "outlived its usefulness."

The council had 34 members, appointed by the governor-general.

The proposed senate would have 32 members, chosen by the parliamentary parties in proportion to their strength in the House of Representatives.

The senate would have the power to amend bills, initiate bills and hold up bills for not longer than two months but would have no power of absolute veto over any measure sent up from the lower house.

The old council had no power to start legislation on taxation or revenue.

Red Prisoners On Koje Cheer Canada Troops

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, July 15 (AP)—A Canadian company commander today said Communist prisoners on Koje Island cheered and shouted insults at his men when they arrived—but cheered and waved to them when they left the island.

Maj. E. L. Cohen of Pembroke, Ont., commanding "B" Company of the First Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, brought his 105 men back to headquarters Monday after 42 days of guarding Red internees on Koje. They had pulled out of the front lines May 23 and rushed to the turbulent island off southeast Korea by train and boat.

The guard was originally posted around troublesome Communist prisoners. The Canadians later were teamed with a company of the King's Shropshire Light Infantry and placed in charge of enclosure three.

The enclosure contained a total of 2,030 Chinese and North Korean prisoners.

Red prisoners are not the only people on Koje who will remember Cohen's men.

Miss Ada Sandall, a Canadian-born missionary from Magog, Que., who has spent 25 years in Korea, will remember them, too, but for different reasons.

Before the company pulled out all ranks contributed food and other supplies to the growing pile of foodstuffs to be distributed to families and orphanages by Miss Sandall.

Queen Confers Honors Despite Slight Cold

LONDON, July 15 (AP)—The Queen is confined to her room with a slight cold, Buckingham Palace announced this afternoon.

She conferred honors on 250 men and women this morning even though suffering from a chill.

The Queen's cold meant that she missed one of the top society weddings of the London season, that of her cousin, Hon. Gerald Lascelles, to Miss Angela Dowding.

The decorations ceremony at Buckingham Palace was carried out in the white-and-gold ballroom where the Queen stood on a dais and received the award winners one by one.

Lt.-Gen. Sir George Erskine, who commanded British troops in Egypt during some of the wildest anti-British rioting this year, and Air Marshal Sir Hugh Walmesley, in charge of the R.A.F. training program, were made Knight Commanders of the Bath.

'NO FURTHER AID' FOR TEEN-AGE DRUG ADDICTS

VANCOUVER, July 15 (CP)—Two teen-aged girls, who were being treated at a private sanatorium in New Westminster for narcotics addiction will receive no further help.

The girls, both 17, escaped from the sanatorium Saturday. They were recaptured in Vancouver Monday and were locked up in more secure institutions.

The doctor in charge of the sanatorium said the girls will not be returned to the hospital because "they are not interested in being helped."

One of the girls, who is eight months pregnant, has been charged with vagrancy under the Criminal Code and placed in the Juvenile Detention Home. Her companion was returned to the Girls' Industrial Home, where she had been an inmate before being transferred to the hospital.

All we need to take the pain out of the I.W.A. strike is a little of Sloan's liniment.

Socreds in search of a leader today have a difficult choice: "Wicky" or "Wacky."

Looks like every curlin' fan in town is ready, willing and Zabel.

Curling Rink To Be Started Next Month

$145,000 Bond Sale Pressed by Club

Construction of a $145,000 curling rink on Quadra Street near the corner of Pembroke, will start in the first week in August, Max Zabel, president of the Victoria Curling Club, announced today.

The club proposes to build a rink housing eight sheets of curling ice and suitable club rooms, with locker space, coffee bar and common rooms, he said.

Mr. Zabel also said club members within the next two weeks will make an "all out" effort to complete the drive to sell $105,000 worth of bonds necessary for the construction of the building.

SALES GOOD

The drive to sell bonds for the construction of the club has been going on since May, Mr. Zabel explained, and so far bond sales had been good.

Mr. Zabel said the club is anxious to bring the bond sale drive to a close so that work on the building can start.

Urging Victorians to get behind the curling rink project, Mr. Zabel pointed out that Victoria is the only city in Canada without a curling rink.

BIG ATTRACTION

"The curling rink will be a big tourist attraction," he said. "We should do something to attract tourists to this city."

Mr. Zabel said curling would prove to be one of the most popular winter sports in Victoria as soon as the curling club was erected.

"It is one of the most popular games in other Canadian cities," he pointed out. "There are more than 50 sheets of ice in Edmonton, Regina has the largest curling rink in the world with 14 sheets of ice under one roof."

Mr. Zabel believed that the game would prove as popular in Victoria as in the Prairie centres.

Record Vote In Quebec Election Seen

QUEBEC, July 15 (CP)—All indications pointed today to a record vote in Wednesday's Quebec election.

The month-long campaign, one of the most widely publicized on record and with heavy attendance at platform meetings, seemed destined to produce a popular vote that would outstrip the 1,509,970 ballots cast in the last election in 1948.

With an increased population, the list of registered voters—2,248,546—is nearly a quarter-million higher than the 2,036,576 eligible to vote four years ago, 74 per cent exercised their franchise.

See Story Page 18

Party leaders and the more than 200 candidates supporting them concentrated today on wind-up meetings as active campaigning moved toward the shut-down hour at midnight tonight.

The leaders moved into their home constituencies for final platform appearances.

Voting hours Wednesday are 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. EDT.

It is expected that first results will be available on the Pacific Coast by 5:30 p.m. PDT.

1,000 SQ. MILE ARMY CAMP PLANNED FOR N.B.

OTTAWA, July 15 (CP)—Canada's biggest army camp, one that may eventually absorb an area half the size of Prince Edward Island, will be constructed in New Brunswick, it was learned today.

The green light is expected to be given shortly for the preliminaries to a start on a multi-million-dollar base, that will give Canada for the first time a camp large enough to train formations larger than a brigade.

Because official publicity only hampers negotiations for purchase or expropriation of land, there may be no official announcement for some time. However, it is understood the last obstacles now are being cleared for the big deal.

The ideal area has been described as one about 50 by 20 miles or 1,000 square miles, about half the size of P.E.I.

Socreds Expect Early Election

Will Choose Leader Tonight; Confident Of 'Sweeping Province' in New Contest

Special to The Times

VANCOUVER, July 15—Newly-elected Social Credit members of the legislature meeting here today to choose a leader who probably will be the next premier of the province don't expect their minority government to last for long.

But they are confident "Social Credit will sweep the province" when they go to the people in another general election at an early date.

Meeting behind closed doors at Hotel Vancouver, the Socreds are not expected to name their leader until this evening. And it is possible the selection by secret ballot might not be made until Wednesday.

Whether or not the leader chosen at the meeting becomes premier depends on recounts asked by the C.C.F. in two main-land ridings and by the Liberals in Saanich.

Party standings now give Socreds 19 seats in the 48-seat B.C. House, the C.C.F. 18, Liberals six, Conservatives four and Independent Labor one.

On the recount it is possible for C.C.F. to take two seats away from the Socreds. It is possible, too, that the socialist party might lose the Saanich seat.

BENNETT MENTIONED

In corridor talk with members of the Social Credit party attending today's meeting which, in addition to naming a leader is forming party policies and dealing with the critical strike situation, one name seems to be mentioned most.

It is that of W. A. C. (Cec) Bennett, South Okanagan member who bolted from the Conservative party during the 1951 session of the Legislature.

Prior to the opening of the meeting, he told reporters that as far as he was concerned, there would be "no coalition, no collusion and no deals" by the Social Crediters.

On party leadership, Bennett said: "I'm not looking for it. But we'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

Mrs. Tilly Rolston, Point Grey member who also left the Conservative ranks to turn independent and later Social Credit, said she was not seeking the premiership.

"Bennett's the man for the job," she declared.

Bennett and Mrs. Rolston are the only experienced legislators in the group.

The majority of the members are strangers to one another, and members of the party for only the last few months.

Next to Bennett, mention for leadership goes to Lyle Wicks, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, and R. E. Sommers of Castlegar in the Kootenays.

Operators' Acceptance Paves Way to Discussion

B.C. coastal lumber operators today agreed to accept Chief Justice Gordon Sloan as mediator in the month-long strike by the International Woodworkers of America.

The decision was regarded by most observers as the first positive break in the stalemate which has "rocked" both groups' an estimated $36,000,000 and left some 32,000 woodworkers idle and thousands of allied workers on short hours or out of work.

Mediation likely will begin Wednesday.

Decision of the operators was reached at a closed meeting in Vancouver this morning.

John Billings, manager of Forest Industrial Relations, bargaining agency for 162 strike-bound operators, announced the formal application to Mr. Sloan will be made this afternoon.

They had spoken to him by telephone this morning.

"I think we can get the mediation under way by tomorrow," Chief Justice Sloan told The Times by telephone.

RECEIVED JOYFULLY

News of the operators' decision was received joyfully by I.W.A. officers in Victoria. The I.W.A. made a request for Mr. Chief Justice Sloan's services on Monday. He, in turn, said he would mediate only if both parties wished him to do so.

Chief Justice Sloan was the jurist who settled the 36-day-old strike which occurred over differences between the I.W.A. and the operators in 1946.

In the 1946 strike Chief Justice Sloan held a series of meetings with the operators and the I.W.A. bargainers, seeking to bring them together.

Eventually these meetings broke down, but Mr. Sloan made a number of recommendations to serve as a formula for ending the strike. After further talks these were accepted in the main and the strike was ended.

The Chief Justice in the current dispute will conduct a mediation, not an arbitration, it was explained.

In other words, he will attempt to find some middle ground between the two sides but his findings would not be binding unless both sides agreed to accept them after they were brought down.

POLICE TAKE MONEY AT PAR

VANCOUVER, July 15 (CP)—One place, at least, in Vancouver is allowing 100 cents on the American dollar.

But U.S. tourists aren't advised to make a rush for it. It's the city police station.

Police Chief Walter Mulligan reported today that tourists picked up in the current crackdown on traffic violators can pay their fines in U.S. money without paying premium rates.

CHIEF JUSTICE SLOAN

B.C. Scoured For Missing U.S. Aircraft

VANCOUVER, July 15 (CP)—An American plane which disappeared on a 200-mile flight from Penticton, B.C., to Vancouver was sought today by R.C.A.F. searchers.

The hunt centred in the mountainous country and heavily wooded valleys along the flight route.

The plane left Penticton at 3:53 p.m. Monday and had enough gas for five hours flying. It was equipped with a radio receiver but had no transmitter.

Perfect flying weather prevailed and searchers said the plane may have been forced down, unharmed, in one of the many valleys along the route.

Identity of the fliers and their hometown was not disclosed by R.C.A.F.

Sachs Given Six Months

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, July 15 (Reuters)—Solomon Sachs, former general secretary of the Garment Workers' Union today was sentenced to six months at hard labor on each of two counts under the Suppression of Communism Act.

He was convicted of attending public meetings, banned to him after he was "named" under the act. The sentences are to run concurrently. Sachs was freed on $700 bail pending appeal.

The Suppression of Communism Act was passed by Prime Minister Daniel Malan's Nationalist government last summer.

City Lots Only Good for Jungle Games

Annual complaints about vacant properties being overrun with weeds are being received at City Hall from perturbed citizens. Some argue tall, dry grass constitutes fire hazard while others complain about weed nuisance to their gardens.

Jackson children—Bobby, Dickie and

Dolores—say this lot near their home on Quesnel Street is okay for jungle games if you're careful to watch for prickly thistles. Most parents feel lots would make much better playgrounds if city kept them cut and tidy. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

SARTORIAL SHOCKS

THIS IS THE season of the year when male tourists—and some of our own younger set too, for that matter—blossom forth in shirts of patterns that stun the passerby, trousers and trunks of outlandish hue, and coats which would have put Joseph's particular one of many colors to shame. So it may be an appropriate time to talk of men and their queer ideas of appropriate garb—and what can happen when they throw off their inhibitions.

For years I have marvelled at the tenacity with which the men folk cling to the conventional in dress. In the evening, when women discard even much of the minimum to which their daytime wear has now been reduced, the male of the species puts on extra by way of stuffy black clothes, more or less stiff shirts and collars.

PENGUIN EFFECT

HAVING THUS ACHIEVED an evidently much-to-be-desired penguin effect, they then proceed to spend a thoroughly uncomfortable evening coping with the restrictions of formal attire. And if you want to see them at the height of their discomfort you have only to watch them at a dance, collars wilting as the starchiness gives way under the onslaught of perspiration.

And if that is the effect of formal evening wear on the men in this salubrious climate, think what it must do to them in spots nearer the Equator!

INFRA DIG

THAT IS WHY my sympathies were all with Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, Commissioner-General in Southeast Asia and former British High Commissioner in Ottawa, when he flouted convention by turning up at a concert given by the opera singer, Helen Traubel, in Singapore, in his shirt sleeves but wearing a black tie.

As one might expect, such a disregard of the conventions shocked many a resident of the Malay States who look upon such departures as decidedly "infra dig." And their objections were voiced in no uncertain manner. One letter to the editor of the Straits Times, signed "Disgusted," characterized such outrageous conduct as an insult to Miss Traubel.

DIPLOMAT'S REPLY

TO THAT, Mr. MacDonald replied that Miss Traubel knew in advance of his decision to discard a dinner jacket and had approved of it. He added:

"Your correspondent seems to think the wearing of masculine evening dress without a coat is a crude innovation but it is of course nothing of the kind. For long in various sunny parts of the British Commonwealth the accepted evening dress for men has been the black tie, white shirt, black cummerbund, black or white trousers and—no coat."

TYRANNY BROKEN

THE DIPLOMAT ALSO points out that, while he didn't favor coatless appearances for state occasions, he still thought that for many functions "it is a good alternative to the fustian costume, and that in Malaya we now break the tyranny of the dinner jacket just as it was broken in India and elsewhere by fine imperial statesmen and shining aristocrats who happened also to be sensible men in splendid days of yore."

That reference to statesmen of yore reminded me of an incident that happened in Montreal about a quarter of a century ago, when the late Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin visited Canada in his role of Prime Minister of Great Britain.

MONTREAL SHOCKED

HE WAS TO speak in Montreal, and it was one of those hot and humid days for which the eastern city is notorious. When Mr. Baldwin started to speak, he found the unaccustomed heat so stifling that he took off his coat and hung it on the back of his chair, at the same time suggesting that the men in his audience should follow suit.

But the astounded Prime Minister soon discovered that, instead of making a hit with his bit of informality, he had offended Montreal. The guests wanted to know if he thought they were a lot of back woods folks, who didn't know enough to wear their coats at dinner. They felt insulted—and showed it.

Which all goes to show that some men still are conservative in their ideas of dress—and liberal in their criticism of others who don't see eye to eye with them.

GANG WAR REPERCUSSION?

Explosion Wrecks Building Owned by Big Earl Shelton

FAIRFIELD, Ill., July 15 (AP)—A violent explosion in a building owned by the notorious "Big Earl" Shelton early today wrecked the structure and damaged several other buildings. Most of the city's 6,000 residents were awakened by the blast.

Police were without clues in a hunt for persons who set off the blast, apparently another in a series of reprisals against the fading Shelton clan.

No one was injured. The building was the last piece of property owned in Fairfield by the one-time southern Illinois gang leader.

The Shelton gang terrorized southern Illinois in the prohibition era. "Big Earl," 58, left Fairfield more than 18 months ago. On May 24, 1949, he was seriously wounded as he played poker in the building bombed today.

Three of "Big Earl's" brothers were slain in gang style. A cafe, roadhouse of Shelton's sister, Lula Bell, was bombed near Fairfield June 19, 1949.

HEAVIER KOREA BOMBING FORECAST

U.S. Army Chief Warns Communists Of Action if Hostilities Prolonged

TOKYO, July 15 (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins, United States army chief of staff, said today that even tougher bombing of North Korean military targets is in store for the Communist if they "insist on prolonging the war."

United Nations planes within the last three weeks have hurled some of the mightiest air attacks of the war at Red power-plant facilities in North Korea and at military targets in and near the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

He told a press conference on his return from the front that the U.N. command is prepared "to use anything except geriatric warfare—to protect its forces in Korea from being driven out."

The controversial decision to bomb the Yalu River power plants was a routine one, made as part of a "shifting bombing pattern."

He said also that "within a few years we will use atomic artillery on the battlefield."

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

Condensed from CP, AP, and UP Dispatches

REVERSES—In Rangoon, Burma, official sources reported today that the Karen tribesmen fighting Burma's government have gone to Formosa for arms aid from Chiang Kai-shek and his Chinese Nationalist army.

These sources said a Karen delegation led by Saw Shwe, a tribal chief, was flown to Taipei, the Formosan capital.

The Karen rebels recently have suffered severe reverses from government troops.

Chinese Nationalist irregulars in north Burma previously have been reported supplying arms to the Karen rebels.

ENDED—A three-week strike of 10,000 workers at the Briggs Automotive Bodies plant in an associate of the Ford Motor Company, ended in Dagenham, Essex, Eng., today.

The strike committee recommended a return to work Wednesday after the company agreed to discuss wage claims.

Ford workers several days ago settled their own protest strike against the laying-off of men because of the Briggs strike.

COOLER—General Motors in Detroit today announced the perfection of an air conditioning system for passenger cars.

President C. E. Wilson said the unit will be made available as optional equipment on the 1953 model Oldsmobile and Cadillac cars.

Wilson said the unit consists of a rotary compressor mounted on the engine and a sealed refrigeration mechanism using non-toxic freon mounted in the luggage compartment.

CRITICAL—In Athens, George L. Magan of Toronto, Canada's ambassador to Greece became ill several days ago and is in critical condition, embassy sources said today.

The nature of his illness was not disclosed. However, it is understood Magan is paralyzed on one side of the body.

He had been making strenuous trips through Greece during recent weeks, supervising distribution of flour and other Canadian gift shipments.

ALONE—British authoress Ann Davison has reached Gibraltar on her attempt to be the first woman to cross the Atlantic alone in a small boat.

Reports reaching Casablanca, Morocco, today said the 38-year-old widow sailed her 23-foot yacht Felicity Ann into harbor there Monday, 19 days after she left Vigo, Spain. Mrs. Davison sailed from Plymouth, Eng., May 18, hoping to reach the United States.

She and her husband tried to make the crossing in a 70-foot ketch three years ago. The ship was lost and her husband was drowned.

DELEGATION—A Communist Chinese government delegation of eight and a Red Cross delegation of nine left Peiping by air Monday to attend the 18th International Red Cross conference in Toronto, Peiping radio said today.

The radio added the Red Cross delegates were led by Mrs. Li Teh Chuen, widow of Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang, who was expelled from the Kuomintang for anti-government speeches and died in 1948 on board a Russian ship.

WEATHER—Another day of hot, muggy weather appeared in prospect for areas in the eastern third of the United States today. Pleasant summer weather was the outlook for most other parts of the country.

The midwest got refreshing breezes and rain to break the warm and humid weather of the last several days. Cooler air moved through the western Great Lakes region and upper Mississippi Valley southwestward to Oklahoma and Texas.

The hot belt extended from Texas and the Gulf states northward to the eastern Great Lakes and New England. Record temperatures for the date were set in several eastern cities Monday. Temperatures were in the 90s in the sweater belt and continued above normal in most areas during the night.

MILESTONE—Canada's three-year defense program has quietly passed a milestone.

She has started to ship new equipment to help Atlantic Pact allies in the strengthening of Europe.

The arms and equipment she has sent in the past have been things left over from the Second World War.

It was announced Monday that the first of 300 secret new radar sets, a type to be used by the army in its anti-aircraft set-up, is due in Britain shortly, possibly today.

It came out of the Leaside, Ont., plant of Canadian Arsenal Ltd., a short time ago and was shipped to Britain aboard the Empress of Canada complete with the truck and large trailer which make it mobile.

LEAVING—In London Mrs. MacLean, American wife of the British diplomat who vanished in Europe under mysterious circumstances a year ago, is leaving soon for France.

It is announced she is going for a vacation but reports say she will live permanently in Switzerland.

MacLean was a high official in the United States affairs department of the British foreign service. He and another official, Guy Burgess, disappeared in May, 1951. They were known to have reached France.

U.S. LINER GREETED BY HOME PORT

United States Sets Second Ocean Mark

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—The superliner United States, her maiden voyage a two-way conquest of the Atlantic, sailed triumphantly into her home port today to a big New York harbor welcome.

The 53,000-ton U.S. Lines ship moved leisurely by the Statue of Liberty and the Battery with ferries and tugs in the harbor whistling a lusty greeting. Fire boats sent up geyser-like fountains.

Several private planes and two police helicopters flew overhead. Her pace was nowhere near the record speeds she used to bring America the mythical blue ribbon — emblem of ocean supremacy.

Monday the United States easily bettered the westward speed record across the North Atlantic to go with the eastward mark she set earlier this month.

She anchored Monday night in the outer New York harbor and early today started her triumphal entry through the port and up the Hudson River to her 46th Street berth.

In nothing the westward speed record Monday to go with the eastward mark she scored earlier this month, the United States crossed from England to New York in three days, 12 hours and 12 minutes. She steamed across the westward finish line, at Ambrose Lightship just outside the harbor, at 4:29 P.M. E.D.T. (1:29 p.m., Victoria time).

Nine hours and 36 minutes were clipped from the previous westward record held by the British Cunard liner Queen Mary for the last 14 years. The United States beat the Queen Mary's westward record by 10 hours and two minutes.

An average of 34.51 knots was maintained by the United States.

In All-American Soap Box Derby... which isn't all-American and has nothing to do with soap boxes... 13-year-old George Repar of Toronto will be one of Canada's representatives at Akron, Ohio, Aug. 10. Running mate will be a boy from Mission, B.C. Victoria's Mission qualification race entry was disqualified two weeks ago on a complaint from Nanaimo. Neil Mattison's car, it was argued, had the front axle set too far forward, a funnel radiator and too high a seat. Boy drivers from Germany, Hawaii, Alaska, Canada will challenge for the trophy.

TWO HUGE 'FLYING WINDMILLS' ATTEMPT FLIGHT OF ATLANTIC

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass., July 15 (AP)—Two huge helicopters—pointed for Europe—took off at 9 a.m. E.D.T. (6 a.m. Victoria time) today in an attempt to make the first helicopter flight across the Atlantic.

The "flying windmills," heavily laden with supplies of gasoline, got off the ground after taxiing along runways instead of the customary straight-up take-off of helicopters.

Victorian, Companion to Cross Atlantic in Light Aircraft

A Victoria air force officer and a colleague from Dartmouth, N.S., were hoping today to become the first airmen to fly a twin-engine Beechcraft Expeditor across the Atlantic.

Flt-Lieut. W. J. (Whipper) Watson of Victoria and P.O. Art Titus, both from the 412 Transport Squadron based at Rockcliffe Airport, left Ottawa Sunday afternoon on their 3,560-mile Trans-Atlantic hop.

The pair was scheduled to reach Prestwick, Scotland, sometime today after refueling at Goose Bay, Labrador; Blue West One, Greenland, and Keflavik, Iceland.

Because Beechcraft aircraft are intended for only short flights, additional gas tanks had to be installed for the trans-ocean flight which took up nearly every available inch of cabin space.

When the plane took off, the two fliers had only enough cabin space for two deflated dinghies, two Mae West lifebelts and crash rations.

A Real Highway Policy

AMONG MANY OTHER THINGS, the future highway policy of British Columbia has been thrown into doubt by the chaotic provincial election—not only into doubt but probably into danger.

Whatever may be said against the Johnson-Anson coalition government, it had a sound highway program and gave British Columbia some of the finest highways in Canada. This was largely the work of Mr. Carson, the minister of public works, who took little interest in political manoeuvre but knew how to build roads.

The practical politicians of the coalition—so practical that they practically wrecked both parties in the election—were always restive under Mr. Carson's road policy. They complained that he concentrated the money on trunk highways and failed to buy up the constituencies with the usual and wasteful local appropriations. Mr. Carson, incidentally, has been re-elected. Most of his critics have been left at home.

What has happened to this year's road appropriations the public has yet to discover. No doubt Mr. Carson, who understands these matters better than anyone else, will have something to tell us about this as soon as the legislature meets. He has made it clear in the election campaign that he thinks a lot of money has been wasted during the last few months in the customary attempt to influence local votes. His highway program, he believes, has suffered greatly as a result.

Naturally, he is prejudiced as a critic of the government and as the father of a highway scheme which, he thinks, has gone wrong. It is for the new legislature to find out just where the money has gone, what work has been done, what more should be done and where future money should be spent.

It will be a tragedy indeed if, as a result of political confusion, we also have confusion in our highway spending. In the last five years we have made magnificent progress in equipping British Columbia with a modern main highway system—but it is only a good beginning. We still lack a modern highway all across the province, a highway linking the south with the north, even a completed Island Highway.

For many years governments talked of planned highway development, prepared blueprints and issued attractive maps. Somehow while the money was spent in huge quantities the new highways crawled forward at a snail's pace. Now that the government has learned to build good roads, where they are needed, above all since it has learned to resist local pressures and to concentrate on a definite plan, it is to be hoped this policy will be followed, whatever government comes to office.

If the whole highway scheme is to be merely the plaything of political pressures, roads being built not to serve the province's development but to serve local votes, then most of the money will be wasted. The new government, whatever its party label may be, should lay down a plan years in advance and stick to it. This will be sound business. It will also turn out in the end to be sound politics.

The Americans Are Learning

A RECENT DAY-TO-DAY STUDY OF Canadian and American newspapers reveals one of the major problems in the relations between the two neighbors in the world. That is to say, the Canadian people, through their press, are constantly informed about events in the United States. The Americans hear very little about Canada.

Eight newspapers on both sides of the border, each typical of its region, were studied for one week by two American schools of journalism. The resulting figures show that the Canadian papers printed 25 times as much news about the United States as the American papers printed about Canada.

This is not surprising. The huge American nation is constantly making news, some serious and important, some light and frivolous. No other nation can hope to compete with the American giant in the daily test of the world's news desks. If Mr. Truman is not saying or doing something which must instantly affect the fortunes of every other nation and all living people, if Congress is not rejecting the President's advice, if Senator Taft is not quarreling with General Eisenhower, then at least Hollywood produces some new divorce or Chicago some new scandal. The buoyant, energetic and able Americans are always news.

By comparison Canada is not only a small but inarticulate and sometimes an absurdly reticent nation. We seldom produce sensations of any sort. But there is big news in Canada these days, constructive news of industrial expansion, national growth and a successful, indigenous society unlike that of any other nation.

The American press at last is finding this out and giving more attention to Canada than ever before. Sometimes it may emphasize the wrong things—it greatly over-stresses, for example, the current level of our dollar as if it could measure the real substance of Canada—often it misunderstands our politics, misinterprets our motives and exaggerates our virtues, but it has discovered here what newspapermen call a big news story.

That story will grow with the nation and it is vital to the American people, who not only depend on us for many important resources and for military cooperation but perhaps have something to learn from us as well.

It will take them time to learn fully. They have made more progress in the last two or three years than in the nearly two centuries since the gallant Montgomery paid for his ignorance of Canada in the bloody snow of Quebec. And all this knowledge, moving northward and southward across the border, will improve the most satisfactory international relationship on record.

The Mayor Is Pleased

MAYOR CLAUDE HARRISON HAS returned to Victoria "pleased with the results" of the Calgary conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, according to press reports.

The mayor's reaction to the meeting is noteworthy because earlier in the year he had expressed his unwillingness to make the trip, holding it a waste of city money. His experience at the gathering of Canada's chief magistrates seems to have altered his mind—a thoroughly honest process which a great number of Victorians will approve.

At Calgary Mayor Harrison had the opportunity to exchange views with like leaders from other parts of the country. He was able to participate in discussion of a resolution on a subject dear to his heart—further financial assistance from the federal government for the cities.

The results of his participation in the conference should be gratifying to the citizens of this town. They will find some satisfaction, too, in recognizing in the mayor an individual prepared to change his mind when the evidence indicates that his earlier impressions have been at fault.

On the road to Calgary and back Mayor Harrison pursued a different direction to that indicated by candidate Harrison last November. In the ebb and flow of civic business he may be expected to change course on other issues. The city should benefit from this flexibility as the mayor realizes that some of the policies of his predecessors are not as greatly at fault as he once believed them to be.

Mr. Harrison is learning that the practical job of being mayor is somewhat different from the theoretical outline of that post that is sometimes presented in election oratory.

The Stork Lays Golden Eggs

IN THE UNCONSCIOUS HUMOR OF A typographical error, the Prince Rupert Daily News has probably voiced a profound truth. The News takes to task, editorially, Prince Rupert's public works department for the red tape which has been holding up completion of tennis courts financed by the northern city's Rotary Club.

The situation, says the newspaper is "deplorable," especially when costs are born by the service club.

The key word, of course, is "born." Without the "e" it describes exactly what frequently happens to projects conceived in charity and raised at the taxpayer's expense.

This newspaper implies no criticism of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club for its public-spirited action in providing funds for the tennis courts. Nor does it wish in any way to detract from many other worthwhile undertakings, in Victoria no less than in Prince Rupert, which start as gifts from private organizations.

It does, however, point out the fact that in many instances such projects, excellent as they may be, are "born" privately but become foster-children of the municipalities.

As the Prince Rupert News typographical error suggests, the stork may lay a golden egg, which, hatching, leaves the responsibility on the taxpayer to provide the chicken feed for the nestling.

Lies on Little Legs

DR. JAMES ENDICOTT, THAT BE-mused traveling salesman of the Kremlin, is trying a new tack in his ludicrous attempt to sell his germ-warfare myth to Canadians. He is using paid advertisements (in whatever publications will accept them) suggesting that "... it will turn out that the U.S. military has used germ warfare in the Far East after, all," and asking, in bold headlines: "What Do They Fear?"

A good question. Good, that is, if you ask the question of the Russians. What are the facts? In a United Nations session last week the U.S. proposed that an impartial, international

Red Cross commission investigate the charges in behalf of the U.N. and make an official report. Ten out of 11 nations voted in favor of the project. The 11th—wouldn't you know?—was Russia.

Mr. Malik squirmed. He hedged. He tried to change the subject. In the end, he resorted to the veto.

Apparently even Mr. Malik has learned that "lies walk on little legs," and can't travel very far.

His Canadian stooge, "Dr." Endicott, summed himself up beautifully in a recent conversation with his former college classmate, L. R. Pearson. "Mike," he said, "you mustn't take what I say too seriously."

LOOSE ENDS

Fine Feathers

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

MR. Max Freedman, Ottawa correspondent of the Winnipeg Free Press, is doubtless the best orator in Canada, his only serious rivals being Mr. Leonard Brockington and Mr. O'Leary, editor of the Ottawa Journal. It is a strange fact and, I think quite important far beyond the reaches of eloquence that our major public speakers are no longer in Parliament, that two newspapermen and a free-lance lawyer have a far better mastery of the English language than any of our statesmen.

It is important, I mean, because it reveals the hard gray quality of the Canadian mind. That mind is not much concerned with words, only with action. Mr. St. Laurent is a large and historic figure in Canada by any definition, but he is no orator. Neither was Mr. Mackenzie King, possibly our greatest statesman, as we shall realize when the whole record is written. Our supreme man of action, Mr. C. D. Howe, an organizing genius without rival in our history, at least since Sir Clifford Sifton and probably since Talon, obviously regards words in public as an intolerable nuisance.

ON the other hand, the ablest orator in modern Canadian politics was Arthur Meighen and he was also our largest political tragedy. The late Lord Bennett possessed a kind of fulgent eloquence, he could make a platitudinous stand erect and resonant for a moment or two as well as Mr. King, but look what happened to him. We must conclude that the Canadian people instinctively distrust eloquent men or Mr. Freedman, or Mr. O'Leary or Mr. Brockington would be prime minister, which is an interesting and attractive idea.

Mr. Freedman, who is fascinated by words and has little interest in mere action, to whom an idea is far more important than an Act of Parliament, has been lamenting the decline of Canadian speech. Writing in the Free Press, he explains some rather grisly secrets of the Ottawa speech-making method.

A CIVIL servant, he says, writes a memorandum for his cabinet minister, who should use it only as the basis for a speech. Instead, the minister merely reads the memorandum to Parliament. The speech has never really passed through his mind. "So it quickly falls out of everyone else's mind. These echoes of other people's platitudes must suffer the fortune of sinking to immediate and total oblivion."

That irks Mr. Freedman, to whom words are precious. He weeps for the still-born children and the general practice of infanticide. Though a confirmed bachelor, he does his best, with his own prolific fertility to supply his own progeny of marching sentences until, if they want to hear a real speech, the members of Parliament must leave their chamber and listen to Mr. Freedman from some unofficial rostrum.

PURSuing this study further, Mr. Freedman analyzes the methods of Franklin Roosevelt, as revealed in a recent book by Mr. Samuel Rosenman, who was the late President's chief ghost. Mr. Rosenman shows that nearly all Roosevelt's famous phrases were written by someone else.

The "New Deal" was suggested by Mr. Rosenman. Mr. Thomas Corcoran invented "a rendezvous with destiny." Mr. Raymond Moley "the forgotten man." Mr. Jean Monnet, a Frenchman, "the arsenal of democracy" and, though Roosevelt coined his most famous saying, "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself" was quietly purloined from an almost identical phrase in Thoreau. When Mr. Churchill was in Washington and read Roosevelt's statement that "The world is too small to provide adequate living room for Hitler and God," the British prime minister said he would like to meet and take home to England the man who had constructed this aphorism.

NO one enlightened Mr. Churchill but in fact the words did not come from Roosevelt. They came from Robert Sherwood, the playwright, who helped to write many of the President's speeches.

Mr. Freedman, who personally knows most of these men after his own long sojourn in Washington, argues powerfully that even if he took the materials from others, Roosevelt made his own speeches, refining the raw ore into the final gleaming metal.

That, no doubt, is true and yet it is a little disappointing. What would we say, for instance, if we discovered that Lincoln had only re-written the Gettysburg Address after some ghost had supplied all the shattering phrases, had put it together like a jig-saw puzzle?

THE fact that our Canadian statesmen are no good at such second-hand cobblers is surely no grave crime. If they do not produce great speeches at least they do not parade in borrowed raiment of synthetic stuff. When they read civil servants' memoranda there is no deception, since no one can possibly mistake these documents as originals.

The Canadian creature, in short, is a creature of action who has been too busy, so far, to learn to speak. Inarticulate and dumb, he gets things done and he is right in suspecting the feathers of oratory stolen from other fowls, a few peacocks parading on the landscape as lively signs, no doubt, but they lay no edible eggs.

Backbreaking Knob Turning

Edmonton Journal

From Denmark comes word of what must just be about the last word in labor-saving inventions. It is a radio which can be turned on or off by whistling.

This is made possible by an electronic gadget which reacts to various frequencies of sound. A high-pitched note turns on the set; a low note disconnects it. The owner has only to make the appropriate noises from his armchair—or even from another room.

The only trouble with the idea is that it makes no provision for that large section of mankind who can't whistle. They still face the backbreaking labor of turning the knob themselves.

'I Yield the Floor, Walter

Pensions and Vet's Allowance

A number of letters have appeared in the press lately re the "War Veterans' Allowance." They are not factual in many instances, and cause unnecessary unrest and discontent. A recent letter referred to a widow (of a veteran) receiving a widow's allowance (W.V.A.) of $40.41 per month, with a rental income of $10, and because she has now reached the age of 70, the writer, who says "she believes in justice for all," by reasonably clear inference suggests that this widow should, in addition to her W.V.A., receive the full social security amount (Old Age Pension) on the grounds that the "millionaire" is paid it without question or the means test. The facts will, I hope, show quite a different picture.

(1) War Veterans' Allowance is not a pension for war service or injuries sustained therein. It originated years ago as an allowance, and was in fact an accelerated Old Age Pension to assist veterans with overseas service, who, while they were not pensionable, had nevertheless suffered in health and business or work advancement. Veterans in this class can claim the allowance (the accelerated Old Age Pension) at age 60, or at an earlier age if they are unemployed.

(2) Since W.V.A. is not a pension for either time served or injuries received while in the services, it could not be given to every sailor, soldier or airman, and since it was designed to assist men who, although they could not establish any legal claim on the country for a pension, they were, nevertheless, suffering from what might be called the general wear and tear of overseas service with its trenches, mud, wind, rain, cold, etc., and because the majority of returned veterans who are well and fortunate when they return from wars have wanted nothing more in the way of pay or allowances than they received, a demand arose for special consideration for those not so well or fortunate. Since this was special consideration for certain veterans, and as it was never suggested that it should be given to every returned veteran, it could only of necessity be awarded under some form of means test.

The means test was required to show why ex-private A should receive $40.41 per month at age 60 or younger, when ex-private B, who may have served throughout with A would get nothing.

Many of the ex-private B's worked hard in the Legion to see that A did get his W.V.A., because they knew he was unfortunate and required it. There are other benefits which go with W.V.A., and all ex-private B's, yes, and ex-general B's too, are glad that W.V.A. is at least as good as it is.

Now, then, to refer back to the millionaire who, of course, may draw his social security pension at age 70 without means test. In the first place, if he draws it he will pay most of it back in income tax. The fight for years has been for an old age pension without the means test—at last, the fight has been won, and now there is a real incentive for all good Canadians to work and save for their old age, and whatever one can do for oneself, it can now be added to the social security pension. We can't have a means test for the millionaire, and not for you or me. The veteran's widow referred to in the letter could also draw her social security old age pension without the means test, but is only proper that she should not draw that and continue to receive the accelerated old age pension (W.V.A.) which was granted to her at an earlier age because of her husband's overseas service.

A veteran with a pension will receive the disability pension plus the old age security pension when he reaches age 70. A provincial or Dominion civil servant will receive the old age security pension, plus his superannuation at age 70, as will all other people, including millionaires.

War Veterans' Allowance is not a pension awarded by statute or agreement for wounds or services rendered either in regard to time or place. It is rather an allowance, which, under certain circumstances of employment and worldly goods is given to some of the finest people of the land who, because of service to their country and circumstances over which they had little control, are entitled to it. In many cases it is a well-earned accelerated old age pension plan, and there are no injustices being perpetrated on recipients as far as the general old age pension is concerned.

In hospitals it is always the doctors and nurses who get the credit for a patient's recovery. No mention is ever made of the hospital orderlies. Therefore, I should like to express through the medium of your paper my very great appreciation to the orderlies of St. Joseph's Hospital, especially orderly Bert Prichard, for the care and attention bestowed on me during my recent operation.

Ours Are The Worst

Exchange

East is East and West is West, but one thing is the same all around the globe. That is the quality of the local motorists, as seen by their fellow-citizens. Every day indignant speeches and letters to the editor announce that the drivers of Edmonton, Winnipeg, Toronto, New York, Paris, Singapore or Timbuktu, as the case may be, are absolutely the worst in the world.

It's the same the world over. The motorists always look less ferocious on the other side of the fence.

A Victory, But Tentative Only

By WALTER LIPPMANN
From Chicago

READING the returns, there is, I would say, no mistake how thin is the margin, how precarious and tentative as yet is the victory that the Eisenhower forces have won in Chicago. They have pried open the door which the Old Guard would have nailed shut for keeps through which the Republicans of the modern age can come in to rejuvenate the party. But the door is not wide open. The rejuvenation and reinforcement of this minority party is still only a possibility and a prospect.

Lippmann If the victory in the convention is not consolidated in the campaign and confirmed by a victory in November, it is most probable that the control of the party will fall right back into the hands of the Old Guard, then so embittered that a man of Senator Taft's fundamentally humane and liberal instincts would not longer be able to lead them.

The stakes are enormous, and if the Eisenhower campaign is to be effective, the first beginning is to examine coolly what kind of victory has been won in Chicago and how it came to be won. What I have got to say, writing while Eisenhower is in fact just being nominated, is a first personal impression.

RALLYING POINT

As such, I would suggest, a cool examination will probably show that Eisenhower has been the rallying-point, not the leader or the evangelist, of power forces long operating within the Republican party.

I think it is illuminating and important to say that he was drafted to become a candidate around whom those opposed to the Old Guard could form a coalition.

I think this is true, and if it is, what makes it important is that it explains the paradox of the Eisenhower campaign since his return from Europe. The paradox is that he won the nomination though, in what we may call for short the Abilene phase, he so very nearly destroyed himself.

Fortunately for the country and for him, the serious Eisenhower movement took charge after the Abilene-Detroit period and sat upon the frivolous idea that he or any other man could add himself into the White House. The serious Eisenhower movement is not something new in this campaign. It was not conjured up out of nothing by Governor Dewey. He has only served it well. This movement is the lineal descendant of an unbroken line of that wing of the party which was dominant until 1912. It is the wing of the party which has been modern, progressive and conscious of America's emergence in the 20th century as a world power.

It is plain silliness to talk of these Republicans as New Dealers. They stem not from Franklin but from Theodore Roosevelt, and ever since 1912 they have been engaged in a struggle to recover the party leadership from which they were ousted by a ruthless and corrupt seizure of power.

STRONGEST FACTION

Since 1940 they have always been, when it came to the test, the strongest faction in the party. In each convention they have been able to nominate their man. But because their man could not win the election, they have never been able to achieve genuine control of the party.

General Eisenhower's victory is as yet as superficial as that of his predecessors. Once again the nomination has been wrested from the Old Guard. Beyond that there is only a magnificent chance not to miss once again a splendid but elusive opportunity. The opportunity will be lost, I believe, unless immediately, persistently and powerfully and convincingly, General Eisenhower uses his victory to put the Eisenhower leaders in full control of the campaign. Otherwise, despite all the excitement in Chicago, the Old Guard will sit out this defeat as they have so many others, and almost surely the election, which in the best of circumstances will be difficult to win, will be lost.

VOTERS TO BE WON

It is, I believe, of surpassing importance in this momentous business that the Eisenhower headquarters become very clear about the relative role of propaganda and of political action. Only if the necessary actions are taken by the general can the propaganda, including his own speeches, be expected to work with the voters who must determine the election. These voters who must be won over have, let it be remembered, been voting for Democratic presidents. They are by and large the postwar generation of younger men and women. They are allergic to phoniness, they are tough-minded and suspicious of generalities, of breast-beating, of self-righteousness, and of the kind of gaseous oratory of which they have not only been hearing, but also been seeing, so much too much. Long-Range Plan For Immigration

London Free Press

THE Canadian Federation of Mayors, in convention in Calgary, decided to ask the Federal Government to draw up and institute a long-term immigration policy for Canada. The mayors want an overall program to include welfare, employment and housing services. They would place definite limitations on the number of people to be admitted in any one year so that we do not suddenly flood the employment market and create unemployment problems whose solution falls heavily upon the municipalities.

This is a wise, far-sighted policy. In the past our immigration programs have been hit-and-miss affairs, especially as to welfare, employment and housing. The results have been dissatisfaction among the immigrants, and various municipal headaches. The mayors believe that Canada's population might increase 150 per cent in the next 50 years. If anything like this expansion takes place we shall certainly need a much more practical plan than we have followed in the past.

Steels, Rails Pull New York Higher Level

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—Steels, motors and rails pulled the stock market into higher ground today. Some chemicals and non-ferrous metals joined the parade but the advance had no great force behind it.

Most of the advances and nearly all the losses were fractional. There were a few gains of around a point.

Bethlehem Steel and Chrysler Motors were among the more active of the steel and automobile prices.

Prices headed upward on the curb market. The advances included Clinchfield Coal, Dominion Steel, Mesabi Iron and Royalite Oil.

Canadian issues were mostly higher. Canadian Pacific and International Nickel each added 1/4 while Dome Mines and Hiram Walker each gained 1/8. Distillers Seagram slipped 1/8. McIntyre was not quoted.

On the curb, Royalite Oil was up 1/4 while both Lake Shore and Giant Yellowknife remained unchanged.

Toronto Golds In Slow Gain

TORONTO, July 15 (CP)—Golds climbed slowly today in early afternoon stock market dealings but other sections made little headway.

Profit-taking checked yesterday's industrial upswing within the first hour. Leading issues rallied again in noon trading but slipped back. Base metals and western oils drifted.

Volume for the first three hours was 1,030,000 shares.

Western oils were mixed. Calvan Consolidated, Dome Explorations, Royalite, Sapphire and Trans Empire strengthened while Calgary and Edmonton, Canada Southern, Central-Leduc and Peace River weakened.

Base metals showed strength as Mackenno, Mindamar, New Calumet, Oskisko, Quebec Manitou, Sherritt-Gordon and United Keno Hill turned upward.

Senior golds showed little trend.

Montreal Mixed

MONTREAL, July 15 (CP)—Prices on the stock exchange and curb market followed a mixed path in noon trading but slipped back. Base metals and western oils drifted.

Most of the strength centred in steels. Beverages and miscellaneous industrials were also firmer.

Utilities led the declines followed by senior oils and papers.

Mines were ahead slightly in light volume. Price changes were limited to pennies. Higher were Anacon, Kenmayo and United Lead. The few western oils traded were unchanged.

Vancouver Steady

VANCOUVER, July 15—Noon close. Stocks were moderately active and stronger in the early session at Vancouver Exchange today. Gains were registered in oil stocks and base metals. Industrials were strong.

Among the oils, Del Rio and Central-Leduc closed stronger. Continental, Charter and Yankee Princess were unchanged; Calvan at $7.35 was up 10.

In the mines, Estella finished at $1.40, Quatsino $1.31, Western Uranium $1.20.

Lumber stocks were strong; Canadian Western $9.

London Firm

LONDON, July 15 (Reuters)—The only real news having any influence on today's stock market was yesterday's strength of sterling in terms of the United States dollar.

This resulted in another firm day for gilt-edged. Values suffered a slight setback on a small amount of mid-morning profit-taking but fresh support soon wiped out this minor recession.

Among industrials, occasional end-account leveling-off operations were seen in textile and miscellaneous issues. Here and there values were marked small fractions lower.

The foreign bond market opened with activity in the German issues and they were soon marked a half-point or so higher. However, end-account profit-taking took its toll and apart from the Young loan which held around 75, these issues turned hesitant and lost ground. Japanese bonds closed with small gains on the day.

The oil share market was quiet with some of the leaders marked slightly lower.

Mining markets were quiet. Kaffirs were selectively firmer on Cape support and coppers were occasionally easier. Diamond shares were dull.

GOING UP

Cost Spread Between East, West Climbing

By BURKE CAHILL, Times Business Editor

The railways have lost little time in the current wage dispute in passing along the increased costs to the public.

Proposed freight rate hikes of seven per cent general increase made public today, his British Columbia, at the end of the line, hardest.

Fred Hawes, chairman of the freight rates committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said today "the latest across the board hike in freight rates makes it quite apparent that the special consideration which we in this area have been after for some time is more than ever justified."

Mr. Hawes points out that the projected higher costs of bringing freight into this district will inevitably be reflected in a boost in prices to the general public here on a wide range of goods carried from the eastern industrial centres across the continent by rail.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce freight rates committee, together with other interested groups here, has been fighting steadily for recognition of their right to equalization of freight rates. The basis of the local claim, set forth in detail in a brief to be presented to the federal board of transport commissioners this fall, is that an overall percentage increase in transport costs hits hardest at centres having the longest supply hauls.

Obviously, the local argument runs, a 7 per cent general boost in rail transport costs from, say, Ontario to B.C. pushes the local costs higher than over a shorter run from, for example, Ontario to Quebec.

The latest proposed freight rate boost brings the total increase since 1945 to 162 per cent and the disparity in costs between the long and short haul centres served by the railroads in Canada has, therefore, been getting steadily greater.

Fortunately, local transport men point out, about 75 per cent of B.C. freight traffic is carried at commodity rates, which prevail for all areas. These rates cover such lines as steel, heavy machinery and other bulk commodities.

The range of goods which most directly affect the B.C. public, however, such as household furniture, electrical supplies, some specialty food products and other consumer items in every-day use, are carried at class rates to which a general increase would apply.

It is clear from the greater disparity in costs which a general freight rate boost would bring that B.C. has a stronger case for better equalization of freight rates.

LUMBER RATES

British Columbia's main product, lumber, moves east under commodity rates. While these will be higher under an across-the-board rate boost, they will remain competitive at least in Canada. But there is no doubt

GRAIN

WINNIPEG, July 15 (CP)—Renewal of export demand in oats and barley developed in late trading today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

American interests were credited with taking barley for malting and other shipping interests took oats. Some export support in anticipation of overseas business also was indicated in barley. Industrial accounts took flax.

Fears of possible rust damage to Canadian crops was considered a factor in moderately active trading. Prices ranged steady in sympathy with firmness in U.S. grain markets.

No information was available on overnight loadings of Canadian wheat for export.

Prices of class two and I.W.A. wheat were down 1/2 of a cent.

Government Bonds Slightly Lower

Prices were slightly lower today on the Montreal bond market. Long and medium-term Government of Canada issues slipped as did provincial issues. C.P.R. 3 1/2's and 3 1/2's were lower, but other convertibles such as Dosco, gained fractions. Non-convertibles were dull.

HERE NOW---The Famous 30,000 Mile PURPLE OIL

It's ROYAL TRITON — the oil that was used for 30,000 miles of continuous driving in a Pacific Coast endurance test — yet showed no more deterioration than ordinary oils after only 1000 miles.

Such a feat was possible because of ROYAL TRITON's special blend of additives that—resist oxidation—protect bearings from corrosion and pitting—clean your motor as you drive and holds carbon harmlessly suspended in oil. This is why ROYAL TRITON gives motors that EXTRA margin of safety.

We do NOT recommend such a test for YOUR car because it operates intermittently. But we do say, ROYAL TRITON gives GREATER engine protection regardless of your established drain interval.

The sensation of the West Coast, ROYAL TRITON is made by blending a pure, 100% paraffin-base stock with a combination of powerful compounds. These additives gave ROYAL TRITON its distinctive purple color.

And they enable this great oil to resist oxidation, principal cause of oil breakdown; protect bearings from corrosion and pitting; clean your engine as you drive; and hold carbon and sludge harmlessly suspended in the oil.

If you are particular about the care your car receives, we strongly recommend that you give ROYAL TRITON a trial. You'll find it lasts far longer and gives your engine greater protection than any ordinary non-compounded oil.

The ship's band of H.M.C.S. Naden will present a concert at Beacon Hill Park at 2 p.m. next Sunday, with selections ranging from marches and nautical rhapsodies to folk songs and novelty numbers.

The program will feature a march especially written and dedicated to Navy Day, July 26.

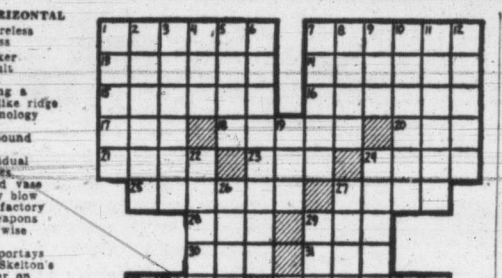

Papers have been drawn for submission to the B.C. Supreme Court asking that a foreshore lease granted B.C. Forest Prod. ucts to allow log storage in Selkirk Water be over-ruled.

Case against log storage permit has been prepared by lawyer W. R. McIntyre, solicitor for Col. J. P. J. Godreau, owner of a motor court in the immediate vicinity, who claims storage of logs will reduce property values and destroy beauty of the spot.

Lt. Cmdr. Beck is a veteran of "four-stacker" destroyers during the Second World War. He will be succeeded at Naden by Lieut. Cmdr. G. A. Powell, operations officer, H.M.C. Dockyard.

NO COLLISION

Rev. Harry Francis, newly elected Social Credit M.L.A. for Smilkameen, isn't going to let his legislative responsibilities interfere with his church duties.

"I don't think there will be any difficulty in doing both," Rev. Francis said in an interview Monday.

He is a minister of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada.

Rev. Francis is one of three ministers who will sit in the new government. Others are Rev. P. A. Gagliardi, Kamloops, and Rev. C. W. Parker, Peace River.

A former resident of Victoria, Rev. Francis' parents live in Oak Bay. He paid them a fleeting visit Monday before leaving for the Socred parley in Vancouver today when a party leader—and premier—will be chosen.

Inner Harbor 'Welcome' Signs Violate By-Law, Council Told

The City Council Monday was charged with making a "honky-tonk arrangement" of the inner harbor in permitting Empress Hotel to erect "welcome" signs.

Recently council, on request of T. E. Chester, manager of the hotel, gave blanket permission for erection of "welcome" signs over the main entrance during conventions here.

"Under the city's own by-law that is not permitted in this area," said Peter G. Hartnell, owner of Thunderbird Apartments, 600 Douglas Street.

He stated the Empress Hotel was also given a permit to erect a neon sign for its coffee shop, which, he said, was not allowed under the by-law.

Quarterly Cheque For $10 Millions Sent From Ottawa

First quarterly payment of $10,023,765 under the Dominion-provincial tax agreement has been received by British Columbia, Premier Byron Johnson said Monday.

The adjusted amount for the year is $41,376,388, of which total $1,281,319 constitutes subsidy payments which are made separate from the payments for the rental of corporation and income tax fields.

This leaves the rental fee for this year at $40,095,063, of which the cheque for $10,023,765 constitutes first quarterly payment.

A tri-service track and field meet will be held July 23 at Victoria High School athletic field. First events start at 2 p.m.

Teacher-Students To Hear Hatcher On Defense Plan

Leonard G. Hatcher, director of the local civil defense target area, will address students at the Summer School Wednesday morning at 8.

He will give an explanation of civil defense organization in a target area and will show why C.D. is here to stay, as stressed recently by Maj. Gen. W. W. Worthington, dominion co-ordinator.

Volunteers Urgent Need

Volunteer help is needed for Victoria's free food stall, in the Public Market on Saturday—and subsequently.

Mrs. Barbara Green, organizer, gave assurance the stall would not close, despite reports to the contrary.

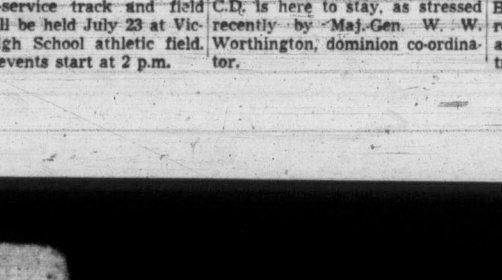

"I shall definitely open the stall the first Saturday of each month," she said today. "And it will be opened on other Saturdays, too, providing there is help."

Mrs. Green admits the self-imposed task is a strain. "But I know the need. I feel I must carry on," she said.

An adequate number of volunteers would smooth the operation.

Food donations are urgently needed. Depots have been established at Prospect Lake Store and Black Swan Cafe, Elk Lake, to receive donations. Wholesalers and many individuals are contributing to the supply stocks.

Organization

Election Success
Provides Impetus

The C.C.F. party, which nearly gained election in British Columbia with a campaign fund of only $10,000, will have two full-time organizers in the field in future.

The decision was made at a week-end provincial executive meeting in Vancouver and came as a result of gains made in the June 12 election.

The increase in C.C.F. representation has given the C.C.F. movement a new impetus to carry out organization on a scale never before undertaken.

The executive said in a statement issued after the closed meeting.

The executive was disappointed that thousands of voters did not realize that in voting Social Credit they were "supporting a political party that differs from the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives only in name."

The C.C.F.'s provincial council will meet July 26 when organizational plans will be completed.

Mrs. Gladys Webster was elected chairman of the provincial organization committee.

Final Cattle
Plague Tests
To Commence

OTTAWA, July 15 (BUP)—Federal veterinarians will begin their final tests this week on "guinea-pig" livestock in the foot-and-mouth quarantine area of southern Saskatchewan.

If the tests are successful, Canada will then inform the United States officially that the dread livestock plague has been stamped out in this country.

An agriculture department spokesman said the animals, which were placed on the farms where the disease was found last winter, had shown no sign of picking up foot-and-mouth disease symptoms.

The animals—cattle, horses and goats—were placed on the infected farms after they had been decontaminated.

WELLINGTON, N.Z., July 15 (Reuters)—An arbitration court today increased the standard minimum wage for New Zealand workers. Minimums for men go up 12 shillings and for women 10 shillings a week. Eisenhower Called 'Rank Amateur'

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—A top C.I.O. leader today termed Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican presidential candidate, a "rank amateur" in the field of civil government. He said that on major domestic issues Eisenhower would be a "prisoner of his own advisers."

Joseph A. Beirne, a C.I.O. vice-president and head of 300,000 communications workers, said in an interview before leaving for the Democratic presidential convention: "Eisenhower has unquestionably been a great military leader, but if he is elected President he will be helpless on the great domestic issues facing the country, such as the Taft-Hartley labor law, civil-rights legislation, federal aid to the states and others."

"He will have to depend completely on his advisers in making domestic policy decisions, rather than making up his own mind."

Beirne, a member of the platform committee at the national Democratic convention, is sometimes regarded as a possible successor to president Philip Murray.

Some segments of organized labor have been fighting Eisenhower for months. The C.I.O. has been a staunch supporter of Democratic candidates.

But the other and larger labor confederation, the A.F.L., has a Republican heritage.

Actually, observers say the term "labor vote" has little significance. Organized labor does not vote in a hard bloc no matter how strenuously its political leaders may work for a candidate.

C.I.O. opposition to Eisenhower was first evident last November at its convention in Atlantic City. Emil Mazey, a member of the C.I.O.'s political action committee and secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers, said that supporting Eisenhower as President would be buying a "pig in a poke."

Crucial Series Opens For A.L. Pace-Setters

SPAHN GETS FAN MAIL; POLICE HANDLE ANSWER

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—A letter threatening pitcher Warren Spahn of Boston Braves prompted police today to assign a detail to guard the star hurler during his stay in Chicago.

The Braves arrived today for a three-game series with Chicago Cubs.

Police said the letter apparently was inspired by the June 8 injury of Frank Baumholtz, Cub outfielder. Baumholtz suffered a broken right hand when hit by one of Spahn's pitches.

The letter was sent to Spahn in Pittsburgh during the recent Braves series there, contained a newspaper clipping of the Baumholtz injury, and was unsigned, police said.

Police said it read:

"How do you like this you When you come back to Chicago I'll see you and make good. I know what hotel you stay at you This is not a crank letter but a sore head like you will get it from me. I'll get you somehow, you can be handled."

BEST EARNED-RUN AVERAGES

Reynolds, Simmons Top Major Hurlers

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—Allie Reynolds, of the New York Yankees, is the American League's most effective pitcher today, although he holds only a slight edge over Philadelphia's Bobby Shantz and Mike Garcia, Cleveland's hard-working right-hander.

Earned-run averages through games of last Sunday disclose that Reynolds has allowed only 22 earned runs in 136 innings for a 1.46 average. Allie has an 11.4 record.

Shantz is close behind the Yankee ace with 1.65, followed by

Yankees Bow; Dodgers Win

Cleveland and New York, the two titans of the American League, clash at Yankee Stadium tonight in the first of a vital five-game series with first place at stake.

The Indians, pre-season pennant favorites, can wrest the top rung from the Yankees, but they must win all five games. They trailed Casey Stengel's crew by 3½ games on the eve of the important series.

At the same time, Chicago's third-place White Sox and Boston's fourth-place Red Sox meet in the first of a three-game series at Fenway Park. All four contenders suffered defeats from second-division clubs Monday.

The Yankees bowed to Detroit's tail-end Tigers, 8-2; Washington whipped the Indians, 15-4; St. Louis Browns downed the Red Sox, 7-5, and Philadelphia Athletics edged the White Sox, 2-1, in 10 innings.

BROWNS TAKE LEAD

In curtailed National League activity, Brooklyn maintained its 5½-game advantage over New York with a 6-0 triumph in St. Louis after the Giants had vanquished the Reds, 6-2, in Cincinnati. Rain postponed the scheduled Philadelphia Phillies-Cubs game in Chicago. Boston and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

Cleveland has won three of four in New York this season. All three triumphs came in the opening series here last May. The Yankees have captured four of six in Cleveland.

Dave Madison hurled eight scoreless innings for the Browns but was batted out of the box in a hectic ninth when Boston got its five runs. Dick Gernert hit a three-run homer.

The Yankees gave one of their poorest exhibitions of the season against Detroit, committing two errors, handing out six walks and leaving 15 runners stranded.

Carl Skisne, turned back the fast moving Cardinals with three hits as he scored his third shut-out and his ninth win for Brooklyn.

Bobby Thompson and Whitey Lockman cracked four hits apiece to help the Giants down the Reds as Jim Hearn picked up his 10th victory.

'NOT THE LEAGUE—IT'S THE PLAYERS'

Marty Discounts Old Maxim

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—It's been a baseball maxim for years to say that the American Leaguers go for the big inning while the boys in the National are content to play for the one run.

But now, with the recent display of power hitting by the Detroit players in the past few all-star games, with the current home-run and run-batted-in totals showing the American League leaders trailing their National contemporaries, one begins to wonder how much the oft-quoted statement means, if anything.

But who's to say?

Orlando it looks like one of those controversies that could be haggled over until such time as the Pacific Coast League turns major, thereby starting a three-cornered hassle. But, rather than wait until then, we asked the man who has been closest to both leagues of late.

Marty Marion, 1951 St. Louis Cardinal skipper and for the past five weeks manager of the St. Louis Browns, views it this way:

"Leagues don't mean anything. The ball players are what count. If in the past the American Leaguers consistently went for the big inning, it was because they had the material.

"Take us, for instance. We're an American League club, but we don't have the power to go for the big inning. We have to play for the one run."

Marty says he's too busy now trying to find out what's wrong with the Browns to be bothered about the National League, but the playing pilot agrees that the N.L. dominance in homer and runs-batted-in leaders shows the loop holds a significant edge in power.

However, the slim shortsstop doesn't think any team in the National can compare with the New York Yankees.

"Not even Brooklyn. The Yanks may not have the sluggers they used to have, or may not have as many long-ball hitters as the Dodgers, but they have the balance. They're more balanced than any other club."

CANADA BEATS ROMANIA IN BASKETBALL SERIES

HELSINKI, July 15 (CP)—Canada's Olympic basketball team today defeated Romania 72-51 in their second-round elimination contest. Canada Monday defeated Italy 68-57.

The Canadians overpowered the speedy but awkward Romanians mainly on the work of towering Harry Wade, the six-foot, four-inch centre from Tillsonburg, Ont.

Wade roved under the basket throughout the game, using his height to advantage and tapping in nine field goals. The Romanians ran into trouble trying to guard him and he was awarded 12 free throws. Wade made eight of them good.

Romania was never in the game after the first half, when they trailed 28-21. Mihai Nagh racked up 14 points for the eastern European team, which was playing its first game in the pre-tournament qualifications. Romania got a bye in the first round.

Canada has now won two games, and seems sure of one of the six places left open in the 16-team Olympic tournament starting July 23.

SHELLS DELAYED AGAIN

Hope Dims For Olympic Rowers

HELSINKI, July 15 (CP)—Word from Tom Allison in Toronto that Canada's Olympic sweep-oared shells have been delayed in Toronto has struck hard at the Olympic team oarsmen.

(Allison, equipment manager for the Olympic rowing team, said in Toronto Monday night the flight of the Royal Dutch Airlines plane carrying the shells from Montreal to Helsinki has been postponed 48 hours. He added the airline now wants $5,000 to fly the shells over, instead of the $3,500 quoted last week.)

(It had been expected the shells would reach Helsinki Wednesday. Now it will probably be Friday before they arrive and are cleared through customs.)

SERIES OF SETBACKS

The setback is the latest in a series of Toronto Argonauts Hamilton Leaders have experienced since they learned last week that their hosts sent to Europe for their use had been wrecked aboard ship in a North Atlantic storm.

Team manager Fred Carter has cabled Allison that if the replacement boats are not here by Friday, it will be too late and the crews will finally be convinced they will have to use Swedish boats when the Olympic rowing starts July 20.

Said Harry Kay Smith of Toronto, an official of the team, in an interview with the Canadian Press today:

"It certainly dims a very bright hope. This Argo team is one of the best of the eight Canada has developed in a number of years. We are certainly not giving up, we still have a reasonable hope of success in the games, but the news is by no means a morale builder to a crew that has had difficulties since it left Canada more than a week ago."

SHELLS REPAIRED

Gordon Jennens of Kelowna, B.C., who built the four-oared and eight-oared shells now sitting in Canada, was put to work immediately to fix boats that arrived from Stockholm yesterday for use by the Canadians. Riggers have been changed from port to starboard, but a number of structural changes have to be made. Harry Kay Smith is helping.

It is likely they will work

WEIGHT OF NUMBERS GIVES ADVANTAGE

Yanks Dominate Canadian Open

WINNIPEG, July 15 (CP)—Can a Canadian win the 1952 Canadian Open Golf Championship?

Even Canada's own golfers say they haven't a hope of overcoming tournament-hardened Americans in the $15,000 72-hole classic opening Wednesday at the Winnipeg St. Charles Club.

Sheer weight of numbers favors the invaders. The official draw, issued Monday night, shows 148 golfers in the field—71 from Canada and 76 from the United States plus one competitor from South America, Robert De Vicenzo of Buenos Aires.

home the $3,000 first-place cash prize.

Defending champion Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, headed a list of top-flight Americans who checked in yesterday. A late arrival, Ferrier had time for a nine-hole practice turn before nightfall.

TIME OUT!

"Chief, the boys all signed this petition to do away with the completely ridiculous rule that we can't fraternize with the spectators!"

The U.S. pros are sharpened by their year-round tournament competition. Canadian pros say they have to concentrate on teaching and other club duties, and haven't the time to develop the concentration and skill they need for tournament play.

Last Canadian to win the event was Karl Keffer of Ottawa in 1914, only break in the steady round of U.S. victories came in 1946 when Bobby Locke of South Africa captured the title with a record score of 268 over Toronto Scarborough's par-71 course.

Locke's record seems in little danger this year over the deceptive par-72 St. Charles course where the competitive record is 67, shot two years ago by Wally Ulrich of St. Paul, Minn., one of the entries in this week's event.

Consensus is that a score of 274 to 276 will be enough to take

Campanella Out Of Brook Line-Up

ST. LOUIS, July 15 (AP)—Roy Campanella, all-star catcher of Brooklyn Dodgers, will be out of the league-leaders' line-up for several days with an injured right little finger.

Campanella injured the finger at Chicago last Friday when he hit the bat of Toby Atwell of the Cubs while trying to pick a runner off first base. He hasn't appeared in the Brooklyn line-up since Friday.

Seventh Savings Bond Drive Set for October

OTTAWA, July 15 (BUP)—The government has decided to place the savings bonds on the market again this year for two main reasons. The principle reason is that Canadians support this method of saving money and, secondly, it tends to decrease the affects of inflation by taking money out of circulation.

"Canadians learned to save money by buying Victory Bonds during last war," a finance department official said. "They continued to buy the same type of bonds after the war, and the government feels there will be a ready and popular market again this year."

Officials of the Department of Finance said the bond issue will be similar to those placed on the market by the government every year since the end of the Second World War.

Commander Jim Davis telephoned me from H.M.C. Dockyard yesterday.

The use of the telephone was superfluous. Long years of sailing in anything wind-driven, from a snipe to a full-rigged ketch, have developed tremendous lung-power in Jim. And yesterday he was really roarin'!

"How do you spell ashtan?" he bellowed.

"A-S-H-C-A-N," I faltered. "Sir," I added.

"I thought so," sneered Davis. "And I suppose you spell Athabaskan the same way—with a 'C'?"

To tell the truth, by this time I didn't know.

I haven't a very good sense of spell.

But I thought I had better agree with Jim, he sounded so mad.

So he told me that Athabaskan was spelled with a "k" and to never do it again, and then hung up.

It wasn't until this morning that I began to wonder, and I looked up all the past stories I'd written about H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, and found that it was spelled correctly in each case.

(This is because we have smart editors, compositors and proof readers.

So it seems that Jim picked the wrong person to be cross with. But no doubt the honor of the navy is saved, and we will always be sure to spell it Athabaskan.

I like people who are proud of their native land, but some of them have a pretty strange idea of the extent of same.

The other day, a visitor from Vancouver was asked how he liked Victoria.

"Fine," he said, "and you know, I've lived here all my life, but never been in this part of Vancouver before."

There has been considerable discussion about the advisability of husbands and wives taking separate vacations.

I am neutral on the subject, but I do know of one gentleman who thought it a splendid idea for his wife to vacation alone.

In fact, he rushed down to the station and bought her a ticket to Banff.

A one-way ticket.

In case the Postmaster-General, Alcide Cote, is still around town and listening in, I'd like him to hear about the dear old lady and the well-stamped parcel.

She had already affixed the stamps before she took the parcel to the post office to be weighed.

"Are there enough stamps?" she asked anxiously.

"As a matter of fact," smiled the clerk, "there are too many."

"Oh, dear," fluttered the lady. "Will it go too far?"

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Maybe it's the hot weather. Then again, maybe it's something else.

At any rate, the gals in the hen house are cutting the cackle and as a result, egg production is falling off.

That's why grade A eggs will cost an extra 2 cents a dozen this week. The increase was announced today.

Ss. Carmia, general cargo ship from the United Kingdom, is scheduled to dock at Ogden Point Wednesday and will discharge about 200 tons.

Her manifest includes 35 English cars, machinery, china, spirits, earthenware and miscellaneous items.

Prowlers were reported to police by two city residents Monday, and a jeweler reported a theft.

E. Filitchuk, 134 Menzies, said someone entered his home through an open window, took a bank book and papers from the bedroom in which he was sleeping, then vanished leaving a light burning.

Mrs. Isabelle Cherner, caretaker of the Luxor Apartments at 1050 Richardson, said she heard a prowler around her apartment and believed that he was after money in milk bottles.

16 Rainless Days Hitting Island Crops

A prolonged drought similar to last year is feared by South Vancouver Island farmers whose crops are now beginning to feel the effects of 16 rainless days.

The hot, rainless weather is beginning to reduce reserve water supplies used for irrigation on many Saanich farms. In some areas without irrigation, crops are scorched by the dry weather.

The weatherman saw no relief in sight for farmers.

Meanwhile, an increasing number of residents in Saanich and Oak Bay complained today of low home water supply despite water restrictions in these two municipalities.

FORESTERS BATTLING 13 FIRES

Thirteen forest fires, including seven which broke out since Monday, are being battled by 122 men in the Vancouver Forest District, which includes Vancouver Island.

All are under control, and the biggest on Vancouver Island is a 55-acre blaze near Wellington. It was brought under control Monday night by B.C. Forest Service firefighters and the Wellington Volunteer Fire Brigade.

In the whole of the province, there are 328 men fighting 48 fires.

Officials said the hazard is still bad, and there is no sign of relief.

Meanwhile, the Victoria weatherman forecast once again "sunny and warm" weather for the city Wednesday. Maximum temperature will be 72 degrees, and winds will be light.

The city has been 16 consecutive days without rain.

SURPLUS PILES UP

Farmers Facing Market Crisis

BY HUMPHRY DAVY

The confused economic picture in British Columbia is further clouded today by a serious crisis facing the agricultural industry.

Declining prices and a shrinkage in export markets is creating large surpluses of farm products, it was learned from the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

The situation is aggravated by strikes which are paralyzing the province's industrial production, agricultural officials said.

Fruits, poultry and dairy products are chiefly affected by the crisis.

It was disclosed that stocks of cheese, buttermilk and other dairy products are piling up as the result of the lack of an export market.

With regard to cheese, a marketing official said the surplus has reached "embarrassing proportions."

A marketing official said there is "no doubt that dairy farmers have a hard struggle ahead."

"Many markets have been either lost or curtailed," he said. "Per capita consumption of milk and butter have been declining."

The problem is the same for the fruit and poultry industries. The picture for this year's apple, peach and pear crops is far from good. Strong competition from the United States is expected to curtail sales especially with regard to the canning industry.

RELATIONS STRAINED

Meanwhile, relations between producers and distributors are becoming strained.

Many farmers charge that the present high prices of some farm products are due to the distributors.

A spokesman for the Department of Agriculture said the provincial government could do little to improve the situation. "It was a problem for the federal government to solve as the whole crisis revolved around export markets, he pointed out.

DUNCAN'S MILK SURPLUS SOLD TO EASE PRODUCERS' PROBLEM

A surplus supply of milk at Duncan caused by a decrease in consumption, brought about by the I.W.A. strike's closure of logging camps and mills, has been diverted to Victoria and Nanaimo, a Provincial Milk Board official said today.

The milk surplus caused a minor crisis Saturday when supplies began to pile up at a Duncan dairy.

Producers claimed the dairy handling their product should have found a market for the surplus milk.

Following a meeting between officials of the Vancouver Island Dairy Association and the dairy firm Monday, a market was found for the surplus. Victoria and Nanaimo firms agreed to take the milk.

Court Warns Soldier On Risks of Perjury

Magistrate Hall Declares Statements 'Extraordinary, in View of Evidence'

A Gordon Head soldier, warned in police court Monday that "perjury is a far more serious charge than the one which has brought you here," was ordered held in custody for sentence after conviction today of taking a car without the owner's consent.

Remanded to Thursday, pending the report of a probation officer, was William Ernest Berry. The youthful defendant was told by Magistrate H. C. Hall Monday that his evidence was doubtful and remanded him a day to "think it over."

Berry was charged with taking a car from Wilson Motors used-car lot after being picked up by Nanaimo R.C.M.P.

On Monday Berry told the court he was the legal owner of the car, having purchased it from a "Bob Harris" Feb. 4 for $700 cash and monthly payments of $50.

Prosecution witnesses gave evidence that the car had been the property of the provincial government until early in May, when it was turned over to Wilson Motors in exchange for a new model.

The court was shown registration slips proving this point.

BANK ANSWERS

Berry insisted that he had bought the car and was remanded until today in order that a bank in London, Ont., on which he had allegedly drawn the cheque for payment of the $700, could be queried by telegram.

A reply was received but when the magistrate asked the defendant today if he wanted the reply read, Berry said "No."

The magistrate called Berry's statements "extraordinary, in view of the evidence."

"I am satisfied that you took this car . . . and that you were not telling the truth (Monday)," said Magistrate Hall.

"I warned you of the seriousness of your statements."

MRS. G. G. ENGLISH
... she got $1,010 tip.

MYSTERY SOLVED

Woman Wins $1,010 With Three Words

Mrs. G. G. English, 1732 Emerson Street, Victoria, said three words this morning, and thus won $1,010.

The three words were "William George Barker" — the correct identity of CKDA's "Mystery Voice," which has been puzzling listeners for 100 days.

Mrs. English credits Monte Roberts' "Between Times" column for the correct answer. "I didn't have a clue," she said, "but a friend told me she saw the answer in the paper, so I tried it and I won."

(The tip-off appeared in "Between Times" on July 5.)

The petite housewife was the happiest woman in Victoria today, too excited to make plans for spending the money — but "thrilled" at her win.

Dave Armstrong, manager of the station, presented the check to Mrs. English this morning.

Oak Bay Assures Playground Group Grant Forthcoming

Officials at Oak Bay Municipal Hall gave assurance today that the usual yearly grant of $800 for summer playground activities had been approved by the council, and would be sent to the playground committee probably later this week.

The assurance came as welcome news to members of the Oak Bay playground committee who, at a Monday night meeting, expressed grave concern as to whether or not the grant would be forthcoming.

Oak Bay's three playgrounds at Willows, Windsor and Lafayette parks this season are providing organized games and craft instruction for 500 children.

The four-week playground season will wind up Aug. 1.

Children at the Willows Park will present a big demonstration for parents on July 28; Windsor children will stage a similar show on July 29, and Lafayette Park will give its exhibition on Aug. 1.

Drinking Drivers Warned Off Road

EARLY CLOSING BY-LAW FOUGHT BY CLOTHIERS

Two clothing store operators here pleaded not guilty through lawyer James J. Proudfoot in police court today to a charge of failing to close their shops at 1 p.m. Wednesday under a city by-law.

Both were remanded for trial to July 22.

The defendants are Earl Ward, manager of the Scotty Shop, and Hugh Morrison, manager of the London Shop.

Mr. Proudfoot told the court one point of his defense will be that the by-law does not apply by virtue of what the defendants are selling.

Single Highway Outlet Here Still Planned

British Columbia's public works department has had no request from Ottawa to change its plans for a new Island Highway outlet from Victoria.

Public Works Minister E. T. Kenney said today he hadn't heard of a reported Ottawa request to re-open negotiations with the province "with a view to abandoning the single spout highway plan."

Another works department official said Ottawa has approved the route of the new highway, "and as far as we're concerned, the contract will be awarded as soon as the new government is installed, unless the new administration has different ideas."

He said the department has been buying property for the right-of-way for two months.

"Who is going to absorb this loss if the route is changed?" he asked.

Provincial works department has checked with the district federal engineer's department for word on a "re-negotiation request," but officials there said they haven't heard.

Vote Recount In Saanich Starts Monday

A judicial recount of ballots cast in Saanich in the provincial election will start at 9 a.m. next Monday at the Court House.

County Court Judge L. A. Hanna Monday afternoon approved Liberal candidate Arthur Ash's application for the recount. The candidate made the recount request after losing out to C.C.F. Frank Snowsell by 168 votes.

The recount, to be supervised by Judge Hanna, is expected to take three or four days, or even longer if a small counting crew is used.

GROUP-CAPT. J. B. MILLWARD
... to Trenton

Army Veteran To Command Royal Roads

Col. Cameron Ware, Calgary, veteran of the famous P.P.C.L.I. regiment, will take over the post of commandant of the combined services college at Royal Roads July 24, it was learned today from reliable sources.

He will take over command from Group-Capt. J. B. (Bert) Millward, who has been commandant of the college since August, 1949.

It is reported that Group-Capt. Millward will go east with his wife and daughter, Jean, to become commanding officer of the R.C.A.F. station at Trenton, Ont., Aug. 1.

The group-captain came here from Ottawa.

Youngster Escapes

A five-year-old boy escaped with minor bruises Monday night when he ran into the path of a car at Burnside and Carol.

Injured but not hospitalized was Eugene Brabant, 239 Talcross.

Police said driver of the car was Andrew Brendon, 3137 Harriett.

Motorist Vincent Calantoni, 955 Caledonia, escaped uninjured Monday night when his car struck a tree at Queens and Quadra.

Damage to the car was described as medium.

Police Forces Crack Down, Charge Three

Three men have appeared in police court in the past 24 hours on impaired driving charges as police continue their drive to keep drinking motorists off the road.

Frank Daly, 2893 Douglas, was fined $200 in Esquimalt police court Monday for impaired driving and Magistrate H. C. Hall said he would turn in a report to the superintendent of motor vehicles regarding suspension of driver's license.

Police said Daly was the driver of an old-model car which overturned last Saturday at Esquimalt and Admirals.

Convicted and fined $200 in police court today on an impaired driving charge was John Duncan Ward.

Evidence of two city police officers was that Ward was "drunk" and "staggering across the street" after being stopped in his car.

Ward told the court he had had only "six beers" and said he failed to see how that constituted being drunk.

Remanded without plea to Thursday on an impaired charge today was Garvin Hamilton, 1005 Oliphant.

HELD AFTER CRASH

He was arrested Monday night following a three-car accident on Douglas north of the Roundabout.

Police said his car collided with a second, driven by George Whiting, 637 Cowper. Both cars were heavily damaged but neither driver was injured.

Following the impact, the Whiting car collided with a parked car, owned by Alfred Pendray, 3825 Quadra, and the Hamilton car struck a telephone pole.

Announcement was made by Kerr Steamship Company, Ltd., following arrangement with Hansa Navigation Company, general representatives for Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha.

Western Canada agents will be C. Gardner Johnson, Ltd., Vancouver.

First loadings will be made by Kazukawa Maru in September, by Shinsen Maru in October and by Taigen Maru in November. They are all 15-knot ships and will discharge at main ports in the Capetown-Beira range.

Mine Disposal Crews Still Playing Dangerous Game as Aftermath of Pacific War

BY MONTE ROBERTS

The Pacific phase of the Second World War ended in August, 1945.

But the Pacific Command of the Royal Canadian Navy still fights the war.

Years later, dangerous, tricky Japanese mines drift up on the shores of British Columbia—and it is up to mine disposal teams of the R.C.N. to render them safe.

Only a few weeks ago, the commander of a disposal team was killed when a mine exploded on Bonilla Island, near Prince Rupert. The Japanese mines are still dangerous, because they are not equipped with automatic devices to render them safe after a period of time—despite the fact that the Geneva convention demands this safety measure.

Actually, age often adds to the peril of the mines, as the explosive becomes more sensitive with passing time.

Since 1944, about 40 mines along the B.C. coast have been reported and investigated by the navy. In all cases where actual mines were found—more than 30—the mines have been rendered safe, as a protection to citizens.

Occasionally, a citizen does not realize he needs protection. In 1946, a Queen Charlotte Island farmer discovered a mine, high and dry on the beach. He levered it on to a stone-boat, dragged it 15 miles along beach and through bush to his farmyard, and was on the point of sawing it in two to make a drinking trough for his cattle when a provincial policeman chanced by.

The officer notified the navy, a disposal team flew from Victoria, and exploded the mine. The farmer was left with a 20-foot crater in his barnyard and a healthy respect for floating mines.

The navy hopes that all other

B.C. coastal residents will have the same respect. If you sight something strange in the water on the beach, don't take a chance.

Call one of the following:

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The Department of Fisheries.

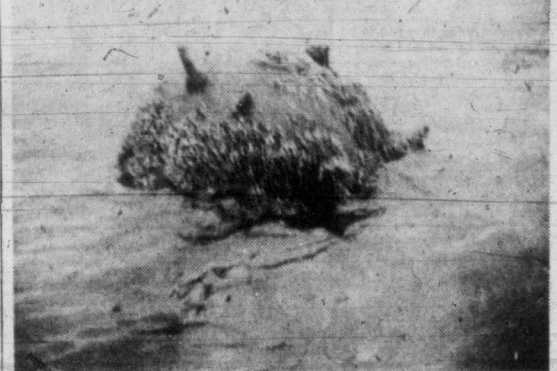

The Department of Transport.

The Flag Officer, Pacific Command, Royal Canadian Navy—or any member of the navy.

The highly skilled, steel-nerved mine disposal crews are maintained for the protection of the public. They are ready to investigate any mine sighting anywhere on the Pacific coast.

Although mine sightings fell off sharply in the last two years, it is probable that mines from Korean waters will be the next danger. And there are still many "left over" from the Second World War.

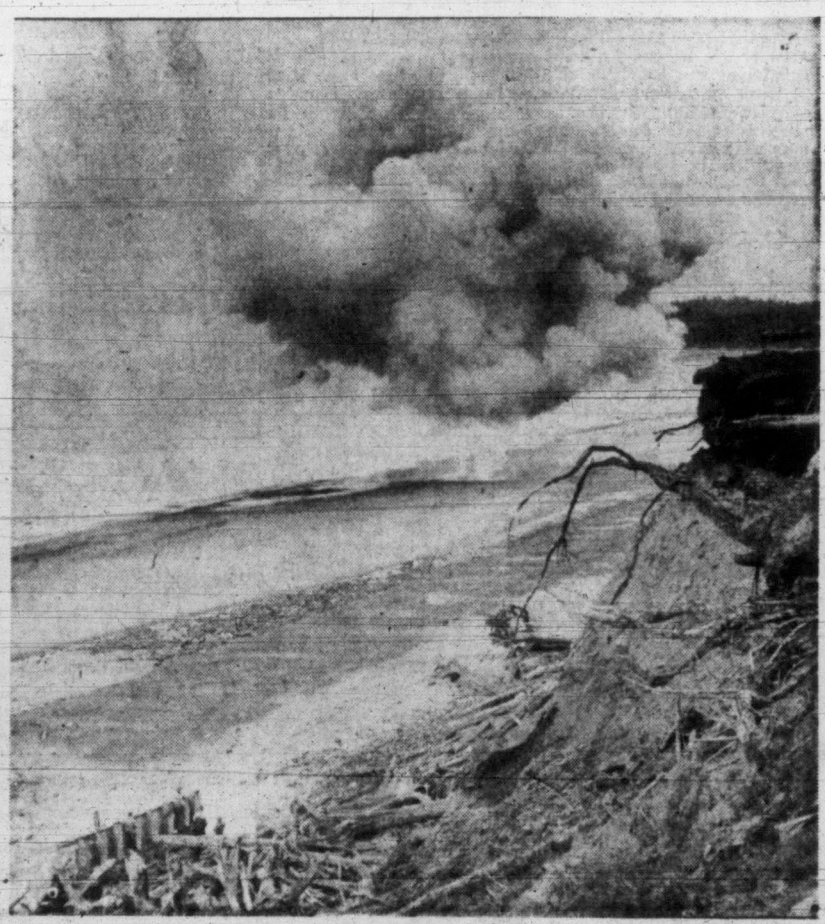

The navy is ready to render them safe.

Plates on Wall Seem To Defy Gravity Laws

By PENNY SAVER

In my wanderings I've discovered that quite a few of you are wondering how to successfully put plates on the wall.

The style of putting a border or arrangement of plates on a wall is becoming increasingly important and no wonder. If you have ever seen this done you know how attractive it is. Why, even the plainest room takes on new interest.

While it may appear that the laws of gravity have gone haywire and the picture is hanging on mere "nothingness," that is not the case.

On closer inspection you will find that a wire spring hanger which hangs on the wall like any other kind, has little clamps curled over the edge of the plate and are holding on for dear life. From a distance you don't notice these clamps and the effect is quite impressive.

These clamps will cope with most any plate and are priced at 50 pennies. When you discover the effectiveness of the plates, you'll have a lot of fun keeping your eyes open for novel ones to grace the walls.

It's the wedding season!

That's the time when most of us are, at one time or another, looking for appropriate gifts for the affianced couples.

I know of several newlyweds who quite frankly admit that among their most treasured wedding gifts were pictures for their home.

That may not sound very exciting to you, but that may only be since you are not very familiar with the wonderful selection of prints which you can buy at extremely reasonable prices.

Take, for instance, a set of Swiss prints which I saw in town. They were beautifully reproduced, artistically framed and priced at $5.95 each. A grand start for any couple. They measure, 14x18 inches.

Then again you may feel that the couple's home lends itself more to cameo miniatures. If that is the case you'll have no trouble finding what you want.

One of the local dealers, during a recent trip to New Orleans, spotted a line of attractive cameo miniatures which would rival any you've seen. After a lot of research he found out that they came from New York and as a result of this, you can now buy them in town. They are priced from $4.50 and are in filigree patterned frames.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Want to Be Popular? Develop New Interests

It is only human to wish to be popular. Being sought after and liked is a powerful build-up to our sometimes faltering ego. Outside of just plain warmth, friendliness and natural charm, nothing gives popularity such a boost as the ability to indulge in and enjoy many different activities. Even if you have natural charm it doesn't hurt to give it a lift.

The individual with many different interests is always in demand. Others need a fourth at bridge, at tennis or Canasta—or they want a companion for swimming or horseback riding or golf or walking or dancing. The more spots into which you fit with ease and some skill the more you will be sought after and the more different sorts of acquaintances you will have.

What a joy a person is who has lots of interests, who fits in any place, anywhere. Her versatility is a blessing to her and to all of those who know her.

There are two times in life when this is especially important, at teenage and middle age. In between those two periods a woman may be the centre of attraction without very much effort. By middle age the average woman has dropped many of the activities she used to enjoy because she has been so busy rearing a family or carving out a career. At middle age she should take them up again or replace them with new interests if she hopes to be in demand or to find life fun.

The middle-aged woman needs versatility as much as the teenager who is first feeling her way toward adult life. From middle age on should be one of the most enjoyable and exciting times in any woman's life. She should by then know what she wants from life and be well equipped to choose and to discard.

She has earned more leisure to spend on herself and she should find it most adventurous. However, she needs new activities for that sense of freshness in every day and also because these will bring her in contact with potential new friends.

Perhaps you would like to have my list of hobbies. If so send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 66 "Hobbies," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

"A supply of safe whole milk heads the list!"

"Oh, yes, George. Several cans of Borden's Klim."

"Good. We'll have no shortage of really safe milk at the cottage this summer."

"And such good milk, too. Klim is pasteurized whole milk in powder form, you know—has the cream right in it."

"That's what makes it so rich and wholesome—good for drinking and cooking—so much better than those powdered skim milks."

"What I like about it we know it's safe because it's pasteurized and packed in an air-tight can."

"Easy to mix, too. Just add to water and heat."

"Or place in a sealer and shake. Klim stays fresh weeks after the tin is opened, too."

"No doubt about it—Borden's Klim makes the ideal milk supply for the cottage!"

Get Borden's Klim at your grocer's in 1, 2½ or 5 lb. tins. 1 lb. makes more than 3 quarts of rich, safe, whole milk.

AS WE LIVE

Adopt Child Rather Than Risk Success of Marriage

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

When a married couple wants children and has none, there is likely to be a rift between them sooner or later. The husband feels that their childlessness is his wife's fault and she feels it is his. That is what is happening to the woman who writes:

(Q)—"I have been married for four years and we have been a happy couple. Both my husband and I love children but, as yet, we haven't had any. I have been to a number of doctors on the subject and they tell me there is nothing wrong with me and it could happen at any time. They also say it could be my husband. However, he refuses to go with me to see a doctor. This could break up our marriage. Please advise me what to do."

(A)—Ask your doctor to help you to make arrangements to adopt a child. This would solve your problem. Furthermore, it frequently happens that when a couple adopts a child, they have one or more of their own.

The child you adopt would be legally yours and, unless you are unlike most foster parents, you would love that child just as much as if you had borne it. When a child is obtained for adoption from a reliable source, it turns out to be just as satisfactory in most cases as the parents' own children do. Don't be hesitant about adoption.

Most men feel as your husband does on the subject of sterility. They refuse to face the fact that their wives' failure to conceive may be in any way their fault. And yet it sometimes is. It is a blow to their pride to question their virility.

Since your husband feels as he does, you would be wise to stop asking him to consult a doctor. The more you ask him, the more he will feel that you think he is responsible for your childlessness.

Accept the responsibility for it, even if it is not your fault. Then go ahead and make plans for adopting a baby. Your husband may object at first but you can tell him you will take the baby on trial to see how he likes having one in the home.

Once you get the baby, I am sure he would be the first to protest any suggestion of not keeping it. He would quickly forget any prejudice he had against adoption and look upon the baby as his. If a child is the only threat to the happiness of your marriage, you will have solved your problem.

Dr. Hurlock will help you with family problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Expensive Meat Can Be Stretched To Go a Long Way—Still Be Tasty

One way to stretch expensive meats is to spread the flavor liberally among vegetables and gravy in a stew.

The Canadian Fruit Wholesalers' Association says a little leftover meat goes a long way in this fashion. For instance, they offer a recipe for veal pot pie which serves four.

Ingredients: One pound diced roast veal, four small onions, two stalks celery, four quartered carrots, three quartered potatoes, three sprigs parsley, one clove minced garlic, two whole cloves, one crushed bay leaf, two teaspoons salt, six cups gravy and water, two bouillon cubes, pastry or biscuit crust.

Peel onions, cut celery into pieces. Chop parsley. Combine all ingredients and bake in a covered casserole for one hour at 350 degrees fahrenheit. Remove from oven and cover with pastry or biscuit crust. Bake in a hot oven until crust is lightly browned.

WARM WEATHER TEA

The tea bureau comes up with this recipe for tea cocktail: One tea bag, one cup boiling water, one cup grapefruit juice, two teaspoons lemon juice, cracked ice.

Add boiling water to tea bag and brew for five minutes. Remove the bag and allow the brew to drop to room temperature. Put into a cocktail shaker or jar with tight-fitting cover, add fruit juices and cracked ice. Cover tightly and shake vigorously until the ice is practically dissolved. Serves 4 to 6.

Williamsburg fruit punch is another new approach to tea ingredients: Two quarts strong tea, two cups lemon juice (strained), four cups orange juice (strained), two cups sugar, one and one-half quarts cranberry or grape juice, two quarts water, one quart ginger ale.

Mix tea, fruit juices, water and sugar and chill. Just before serving add ginger ale and pour over a large piece of ice in punch bowl.

Ice tea sometimes clouds because tannin, which gives tea its astringency and body, is more soluble in hot liquid than in cold. As the tea cools the tannin precipitates and the tea clouds. However, clouding has no effect on the taste of tea.

Here's an excellent topping for apple crisp. Combine until crumbly ¼ cup quick cooking oats with ¼ cup flour, ¼ cup coarsely chopped walnuts, ¼ cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ cup melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle over sliced apples and bake in moderate oven until apples are tender.

Teachers Bow To Lady Luck

LONDON (CP).—You cannot stop "Lady Luck" playing a large part in school examinations. Miss M. S. Smith, a Birmingham teacher, addressing the annual meeting of the Association of Headmistresses, said a toothache, an emotional upset or even a delayed train, would each contribute to the possibility of a good scholar failing to make the grade in examinations.

Therefore, to satisfy the demand of employers for certificates or diplomas, educational institutions are holding their own school-leaving examinations for pupils failing to pass the national school-leaving examinations—and others unable to reach the standards required for entry to the examinations.

Some of the delegates, however, referred to the possibility of a "chronic situation" developing from the increase in unofficial certificates and suggested it would be useless to have a national certificate if each school is going to produce its own "glided document."

But majority of the teachers supported a motion declaring against a system that would send girls into the world without some certificate of proficiency to show employers.

Fashion has discovered that a dash of red is what the pink costume needs to give it smart sophistication—just one dash. The red shoe is the perfect choice.

Married in St. John's Church

The marriage of Patricia Bernice Heard, daughter of Mrs. J. C. Van Nes, 2161 Foul Bay Road, and the late Mr. George Heard, to Harold Edward Shortridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Millard of Vancouver, was solemnized by the Rev. Canon George Biddle at a double ring ceremony recently, at St. John's Church.

Mr. Frederick Chubb was at the organ, and Mr. Stan Martin sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The pretty bride, given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Raymond Heard, was gowned in ivory satin featuring a lace pelum, long pointed sleeves and an outline of lace at the low neck. Her fingertip veil was held by a coronet of orange blossoms. She wore the groom's gift of pearls and carried red roses and white sweet peas.

Attending the bride were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Erana Heard, matron of honor, in pink tulle, and her sister, Miss Doreen Heard, bridesmaid, in soft yellow moire; both wore bandeaux of matching net and flowers and carried bouquets of carnations to tone.

Miss Shirley Van Nes, sister of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a blue moire floor length dress with matching flower bandeau and carrying a Colonial bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

The bridegroom had Mr. Ronald Winters as best man, and ushers were the bride's brother and cousin, Mr. Vernon Heard and Mr. Ernest Echdale.

The reception was held at King's Road Hall, where the toast was given by Mr. Ted Porter to his niece.

St. John's Anglican Church Scene Of Recent Marks-Murray Wedding

Rev. R. J. Pierce, Bishop of Athabasca, performed the nuptial service that united Roseline Frances, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Marks, Boyd Street, and John Creighton Murray, only son of Mrs. Agnes Murray, Grenville Avenue, and late Mr. J. W. Murray.

The ceremony took place Saturday evening at St. John's Anglican Church. Wedding music was played by Frederick Chubb.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, John Marshall of North Vancouver, was lovely in white satin styled with yoke and long-pointed sleeves of lace, and wide band of the same lace in the full skirt which swept into a long train. Her train-length veil, embroidered in the four corners, was caught under a beaded coronet. This bridal costume, lent by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Earle Smith, was accented by rhinestone necklace and earrings, and a bouquet of white gladioli and red roses.

There were three attendants: Miss Madeline Marks, sister of the bride, maid of honor, wore mauve tulle with overskirt of yellow net embroidered with pastel flowers; Miss Joan and Miss Carol Smithson, cousins of the bride, were attired in identical frocks of mist-blue and dusty pink tulle respectively with scalloping on the collar and short sleeves. All wore coronets of fresh flowers and chapel veils, and carried Colonial bouquets of summer flowers to tone.

The bride's brother, Albert William Marks, served as best man, and ushers were Stan Thompson and Bert Palmer.

Mothers of the couple received guests with them at the reception held at the Business and Professional Women's Club rooms. A cloth of tatted-lace made by the bride's mother, covered the table which was centered

Band-leader Bob Crosby will replace Phil Harris on the Jack Benny show this Fall.
Headman of C.B.S. radio's "Club 15" series for nearly six years, he'll continue in that spot with singer Gisel MacKenzie in addition to sparring with the Benny company Sunday nights.
His new boss seems to like the idea too.
Says Benny: "I consider Bob one of the finest young talents in the entertainment business."
As for Phil, he'll devote his time to his own radio and TV show with wife Alice Fay.

ELGAR CHOIR IN ENGLAND

Lord Mayor of Liverpool First Host of Tourists

(B.C.'s Elgar Choir has reached England and has begun its summer tour of the United Kingdom. Here, Elgar, a member of the choir, is the third of a series of articles written for the Times, tells of the reception given the choir at Liverpool and Manchester.)

BY KITTY DIXON

The black buildings of Liverpool were scarcely visible through the fog as members of the Elgar Choir of B.C. stood on the bridge of the R.M.S. Ascania when it pulled into Liverpool's harbor.

"This is England!" said the captain, as he bade us farewell and wished us success on our long-anticipated tour of Britain.

We spent the morning at the Town Hall where we met the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Liverpool—a gracious couple who took us on a tour of their exquisitely furnished suite. The chandeliers in the ballroom are magnificent. The second largest in the world each one weighs more than 1 1/2 tons and consists of 600 pieces of polished crystal. After the tour we sang several unaccompanied numbers for our host and hostess, who then served us tea.

A concert at West Derby Hall was our first official English performance. We sang to a packed house, and enjoyed singing to the people, because they were such an appreciative audience.

The following morning we traveled by chartered bus to Manchester, sharing the program with the Manchester Schools' orchestra, an extremely accomplished group of young instrumentalists. The choir sang a variety of songs, ranging from "Rejoice Greatly," from the Messiah, to "Mah Lindy Lou," but the number which seemed to please the audience most of all was the old Welsh hymn, "Cwm Rhonda." This song is a favorite of the people of the old country, and they know it well.

A B.B.C. broadcast was the next item on our busy schedule. The program, "The Children's Hour,"

TKO. Inspires Deaf Mute to Big Ambitions

NEW YORK, July 15 (BUP).—Eugene (Silent) Hairston, the New York deaf mute, was anxious to start climbing back up the middleweight ladder today on the strength of his technical knockout win over Miami's Bill Kilgore.

Hairston stopped the rugged Kilgore at 1:56 of the sixth round after giving him a heavy body battering Monday night.

After taking a hammering himself in the third round, Hairston began to move and took charge of the fight. Early in the sixth he nailed Kilgore with a stunning left hook and followed quickly with a ripping right cross that put Kilgore on the canvas. The Florida fighter dazedly regained his feet at the count of 10 but referee Barney Felix stopped it.

Hairston weighed 151 pounds and Kilgore 153.

QUEBEC ELECTION IN FINAL STAGES

Temperatures and Mercury Both Soaring as Fight See Charges Hurdled; Advance Voting Starts

QUEBEC, July 15 (CP)—The contest for 92 legislative seats at stake in Wednesday's Quebec election drove into its final stage today with some of the hottest campaigning and in some of the hottest weather—in Quebec's electoral history.

As temperatures rose—they reached into the 90s in some centres today—so did tempers. Flurries of charges and counter-charges peppered the record as party leaders and their supporters embarked on a series of whirlwind meetings.

Provincial law requires that campaigning end at midnight to night. Broadcast speeches ended at midnight Sunday night.

Advance voting, for those who spend most of their business time away from home, began Monday in 22 centres scattered across the province. The advance stations were open from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. EDT Monday and today.

Balloting Wednesday, with approximately 2,500,000 voters registered, begins at 9 a.m. EDT and continues to 6:30 p.m.

Premier Duplessis, whose Union Nationale party seeks to repeat its election victories of 1944 and 1948, moved into his home district of Three Rivers, addressing meetings in nearby Louiseville and Yamachiche. Today, he closes his campaign in Cap-de-la-Madeleine and Three Rivers. He is opposed by Mayor J. A. Mongrain of Three Rivers, a Liberal.

George Lapalme, who became Liberal leader in 1950 and has yet to sit in the provincial legislature, joined Montreal district and then headed for the wind-up in Joliette riding, where he opposes Labor Minister Barrette.

The Liberals are striking to regain the power they lost to the Union Nationale in 1944.

Two smaller parties in the month-long campaign are the C.C.F. and Labor-Progressives, with most of their strength concentrated in the heavily-populated ridings in Montreal.

A sixth candidate—Alpha-Guerre, independent Union Nationale, in Montreal, Jeanne Mance—withdraw from the race today. However, his name and that of Henri-Paul Drouin, independent Liberal, who withdrew in Quebec East during the week-end, will remain on the ballots.

Electoral officials said they would be considered elected if by chance they drew a majority of ballots. Four candidates withdrew in other constituencies last week.

The retirements leave 234 candidates still in the running, including 92 Liberals, 91 Union Nationale, 23 C.C.F., four Labor-Progressives and 24 miscellaneous candidates.

The House standing at dissolution, May 28 last, was:

Union Nationale, 81; Liberals, eight; Nationalist, one; Independent, one; vacant, one; total, 92.

Tri-Service Hospital Plan To Be Tested

OTTAWA, July 15 (CP)—Construction of a tri-service hospital in Ottawa as a step towards greater integration of the medical services of the three armed forces is understood to be among the important recommendations of a committee which recently studied the defense department's medical set-up.

The report of the four-man committee, headed by Dr. G. E. Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario, London, Ont., was presented to defense headquarters recently and has been under study at various levels, including that of Defense Minister Claxton and the chiefs of staff.

While this headquarters study is going on, not much is being said publicly about the report.

The committee which prepared it was named late last year to look into the possibility of greater integration of the nursing and medical services of the three forces for peace and war.

The report is understood to see a tri-service hospital in the capital as the start of a program of getting personnel of the three forces working together in what would be not only a hospital but a training ground.

Eventual establishment of other tri-service hospitals elsewhere in the country also is believed to figure in the recommendations.

Military hospitals now are operated by one service which, however, does not prevent men of other services being treated there. Thus, for instance, the R.C.A.F. hospital at Rockcliffe airport is manned by air force doctors and nurses but is also used for treatment of soldiers and sailors stationed in the Ottawa area.

Evening establishment of other tri-service hospitals elsewhere in the country also is believed to figure in the recommendations.

Pain Overcame Her Modesty

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., July 15 (AP)—A red-haired strip-teaser, known as Ginger Lee, defended herself against charges of indecent exposure Monday by blaming the whole affair on a pin point.

"The pin point gouged my shoulder," said 25-year-old Dorothy Harringer. "I couldn't quit in the middle of my act, so I just had to shift the bra."

Ginger insisted she was wearing two bras—one on top of the other, but the trial magistrate fined her $50 and sentenced her to 60 days in jail.

2 Easterners Earn Honors For Gallantry

OTTAWA, July 15 (CP)—A Montreal lieutenant and a Milltown, N.B. corporal of the 1st Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, have won gallantry awards for action during a patrol sortie in Korea, the army announced Monday night.

Lieut. Allan Angus Sloos Peterson, 30, of Montreal and Petawawa, Ont., won the Military Cross.

Cpl. Arthur Irving Stinson, 21, second-in-command on the patrol last May 31, won the Military Medal. He was wounded in the action.

The assault was on a hill in front of the area occupied by "A" Company of the R.C.R., and was carried out by Lieut. Peterson and 22 other ranks. It had to be timed perfectly to coordinate with an air strike on the objective and an artillery barrage.

Two fighting patrols previously had failed to do the job.

Lieut. Peterson was cited for "outstanding leadership, courage and utter disregard for personal safety." Cpl. Stinson's citation mentioned his "leadership, courage, initiative and dash."

For service in Korea, members of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade have received 105 awards. One has been awarded the C.B., one the C.B.E., three the D.S.O., six the O.B.E., one the M.B.E., seven the M.C., six the D.C.M., 22 the M.M., four the B.E.M., and 54 mention-in-dispatches.

HOME GARDEN

by Hilda Beustall

If you are obliged to leave your garden during this month while so much of interest is in bloom, there are some preparations which you may make for its well being.

Some of your favorite flowers which are blooming now, may finish while you are away if left to their own devices.

With a little strategy however, you may bring them back into bloom in three to four weeks time. Included in the group are some of the annuals, and a few of the perennials which are treated as annuals, namely snapdragons, larkspur, pansy, viola, gazania and coreopsis. The late summer flowering annuals such as aster, zinnia and African marigold may be similarly treated if far enough advanced.

The idea is to remove all the flowering stems which are blooming a day or two before you intend leaving. With snaps and larkspurs, you may need to remove only the central spike. In two or three weeks time all the side growths will be blooming at the same period.

Pansy and viola plants need more drastic treatment. Take a pair of large scissors and give the plants a thorough trim, removing all seed pods, flowers and some of the tallest growths. This will give the plants a rest, and increase the vigor for late summer bloom.

Coreopsis will not like so extensive a pruning. Take out only the flowers and buds which show color, cutting each stem down to where it joins the main stem. Other buds will develop at the axils.

Annuals which flower later, and a few of the early fall perennials may be safely set back a few weeks by carefully removing flower buds which are now visible. With this group of plants, do not take out any plant growth except the actual buds.

A little judicious work done on tuberos begonias will similarly delay their mass of bloom until August.

A scattering of plant food, and a thorough soaking of the soil on two of your watering days in succession immediately prior to your departure must accompany these preparations, so that you may for once, "have your cake and eat it later."

According to your type of soil, and the weather, you may need to arrange one watering while away.

$80,000,000 Sought By Rails

Proposed Increases Total About 16 Per Cent, May Hit Grain Rates; More if Wages Rise

OTTAWA, July 15 (CP)—The railways today applied for a new series of freight rate increases that would amount to more than $80,000,000 a year.

Two proposed general increases totalling about 16 per cent would bring to 97 per cent the accumulation of post-war rate boosts on the types of traffic to which they apply. These make up about half the railways' $900,000,000-a-year freight movement.

In a three-way move before the Board of Transport Commissioners, they asked:

1. An immediate general increase of 7 per cent.

2. A further—but not necessarily immediate—hoist of 9 per cent.

3. An increase in rates on grain and grain products moving in the west for domestic consumption, bringing them up to Ontario-Quebec levels. This would not affect the statutory "Crow's Nest Pass" rates on export grain traffic in the west.

Under the two general-increase proposals, coal and coke would be exempted from the percentage boost but under each of the two sections of the application would be subject to increases of between 10 and 20 cents a ton.

Along with the application, the Demand Irks Mayor

'Halt Must Be Called ... or We'll Face Ruin'

Mayor Claude L. Harrison was angered today when told Canadian railways have applied for further freight rate increases totalling 16 per cent.

"What I can't understand is why such services must increase their rates when the cost of living is coming down. It simply doesn't make sense," said the mayor.

He said it is possible he will ask for a full discussion in council on the matter.

"A halt must be called to this sort of thing or we'll all be ruined," said Mayor Harrison.

H. A. Wallace, president of Yarrow's Ltd., deplored the requested increases and termed them "another blow" to British Columbia's shipbuilding industry.

"We are already handicapped in competing with eastern shipbuilders because our wages are higher. Further freight rate increases at this time will put us at a further disadvantage," he said.

(See page 5 for comment of Fred Hawes, chairman of Chamber of Commerce—freight-rate committee.)

E. W. Arnett, B.C. Electric vice-president in charge of Vancouver Island operations, said he would have to study the matter before making comment.

He pointed out, however, that cost of services must go up if wages are increased.

Provincial government officials were unavailable for comment, but it is expected there will be active government opposition to the rate boosts.

Meeting behind closed doors at Hotel Vancouver, the Social Credit will sweep the province" when they go to the people in another general election at an early date.

Whether or not the leader chosen at the meeting becomes premier depends on recounts asked by the C.C.F. in two mainland ridings and by the Liberals in Saanich.

Party standings now give Socialists 19 seats in the 48-seat B.C. House, the C.C.F. 18, Liberals six, Conservatives four and Independent Labor one.

Prior to the opening of the meeting, he told reporters that as far as he was concerned, there would be "no coalition, no collusion and no deals" by the Social Crediters.

Will Choose Leader Tonight; Confident Of 'Sweeping Province' in New Contest

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES
VANCOUVER, July 15—Newly-elected Social Credit members of the legislature meeting here today to choose a leader who probably will be the next premier of the province don't expect their minority government to last for long.

But they are confident "Social Credit will sweep the province" when they go to the people in another general election at an early date.

Curling Rink To Be Started Next Month

$145,000 Bond Sale Pressed by Club

Construction of a $145,000 curling rink on Quadra Street near the corner of Pembroke, will start in the first week in August, Max Zabel, president of the Victoria Curling Club, announced today.

The club proposes to build a rink housing eight sheets of curling ice and suitable club rooms, with locker space, coffee bar and common rooms, he said.

Mr. Zabel also said club members within the next two weeks will make an "all out" effort to complete the drive to sell $105,000 worth of bonds necessary for the construction of the building.

SALES GOOD
The drive to sell bonds for the construction of the club has been going on since May, Mr. Zabel explained, and so far bond sales had been good.

Mr. Zabel said the club is anxious to bring the bond sale drive to a close so that work on the building can start.

Urging Victorians to get behind the curling rink project, Mr. Zabel pointed out that Victoria is the only city in Canada without a curling rink.

BIG ATTRACTION
"The curling rink will be a big tourist attraction," he said. "We should do something to attract tourists to this city."

Mr. Zabel said curling would prove to be one of the most popular winter sports in Victoria as soon as the curling club was erected.

"It is one of the most popular games in other Canadian cities," he pointed out. "There are more than 50 sheets of ice in Edmonton. Regina has the largest curling rink in the world with 14 sheets of ice under one roof."

Must Tolerate Red Dean
LONDON, July 15 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that the "Red" Dean of Canterbury has to be tolerated as part of the price of free speech.

"Free speech carries with it the evil of all the foolish, unpleasant, venomous things that are said, but on the whole we would rather lump them than do away with them," Churchill said.

Churchill was replying to demands for the establishment of a tribunal to investigate Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the 78-year-old dean whose Communist sympathies have been getting him into continual hot water in Britain.

"The establishment of such a tribunal," Churchill replied, "would in the opinion of the government invest the activities of the Dean of Canterbury with an importance they do not deserve."

First Move Towards Break in Stoppage

B.C. coastal lumber operators today agreed to accept Chief Justice Gordon Sloan as mediator in the month-long strike by the International Woodworkers of America.

The decision was regarded by most observers as the first positive break in the stalemate which has cost both groups an estimated $36,000,000 and left some 32,000 woodworkers idle and thousands of allied workers on short hours or out of work.

Mediation likely will begin Wednesday.

Decision of the operators was reached at a closed meeting in Vancouver this morning.

John Billings, manager of Forest Industrial Relations, bargaining agency for 162 strike-bound operators, announced the formal application to Mr. Sloan will be made this afternoon.

They had spoken to him by telephone this morning.

"I think we can get the mediation under way by tomorrow," Chief Justice Sloan told The Times.

RECEIVED JOYFULLY
News of the operators' decision was received joyfully by I.W.A. officers in Victoria. The I.W.A. made a request for Chief Justice Sloan's services on Monday. He, in turn, said he would mediate only if both parties wished him to do so.

Chief Justice Sloan was the jurist who settled the 36-day-old strike which occurred over differences between the I.W.A. and the operators in 1946.

In the 1946 strike Chief Justice Sloan held a series of meetings with the operators and the I.W.A. bargainers, seeking to bring them together.

Eventually these meetings broke down, but Mr. Sloan made a number of recommendations to serve as a formula for ending the strike. After further talks these were accepted in the main and the strike was ended.

The Chief Justice in the current dispute will conduct a mediation, not an arbitration, it was explained.

In other words, he will attempt to find some middle ground between the two sides but his findings would not be binding unless both sides agreed to accept them after they were brought down.

It was also reported today that Premier Byron Johnson may be considering a move in the strike situation.

He was reported to be in conference throughout the morning with D'Arcy Baldwin, chairman of the B.C. Labor Relations Board.

Details of the conference were not immediately disclosed at the labor board's office and there was no comment from the premier's office.

Trans-Canada Highway Lags

VANCOUVER, July 15 (CP)—Resources Minister Winters sees little chance of completing the Trans-Canada Highway within the six years allotted when parliament approved the project in 1949.

"It's a matter for provincial and federal co-operation and we aren't pushing the provinces," he said in an interview. "Then, defense production cuts into supplies and manpower, and the highway hasn't up to now been considered an essential part of our defense program."

Rupert Haggen Improved

GRAND FORKS, B.C., July 15 (CP)—Rupert Haggen, C.C.F. member-elect for Grand Forks-Greenwood in the B.C. legislature, is rapidly recovering from his recent illness.

He suffered from extreme nervous fatigue and was ordered to bed for a month on election night, June 12.

Mrs. Haggen said he is now out of bed and expects to resume his work within the next two weeks.

Dodgers Sign Two Youngsters

BROOKLYN, July 15 (BUP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers announced today that they have signed Richard Lupardo of Brooklyn and Hugo Marocchi of Carteret to 1953 contracts with their Hornell farm team in the Pony League.

Lupardo, 17, was an outfield star at Brooklyn Tech High School.

The six-foot-two 195-pound Marocchi, a right-handed thrower and batter, was a first-base star at Carteret High School. He is 18.

Canada Crop Survey Promising

OTTAWA, July 15 (CP)—Canada's wheat crop condition at June 30 indicated a yield 24 per cent better than the long-term average and 15 per cent better than last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Giving details of a numerical-condition survey, the bureau said crops of spring wheat, barley, fall rye and spring rye at June 30 this year rated with the corresponding date a year ago.
